Ford Off To Europe While Congress Boils

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford today embarked on his first European mission since taking office after outlining his energy control program to the nation on television and radio last night.

Democrats who control Congress immediately began sharply criticizing Ford's actions to force up petroleum prices, but they cannot guarantee votes to substitute their own energy program.

As he left for Europe, the President said he is going as a representative of "a confident and united America — an America determined, with its allies, to safeguard our vital interests."

"The United States seeks international cooperation — not confrontation," the President said as he departed Andrews Air Force Base in nearby Maryland at 7:45 a.m. EDT on a six-day journey which will take him to Brussels, Madrid, Salzburg, Austria, and Rome.

"I pledge to work unstintingly to advance our common interests with Europe as part of our broader efforts to achieve better cooperation with all countries," Ford stated.

He said this nation "is equally determined to reduce the chances of conflict, to increase cooperation and to enhance the well-being of Americans and all peoples."

"I am confident that each stop and each meeting will contribute to these objectives," he said.

In Brussels, the first stop, he will join Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger for a two-day NATO summit. There he plans individual meetings with leaders of all 14 member nations of the alliance. French President Valéry Giscard d'Estaing does not plan to attend the summit, but will meet with Ford in the Belgian capital.

"I want to reaffirm at this time — and will do so again in Brussels — the United States' commitment to the North Atlantic Treaty which is vital to American security and well-being," the President said.

Ford said Spain is assuming an increasingly important role in both Atlantic and Mediterranean affairs and that his visit there "provides a welcome opportunity to review with Spanish leaders our expanding cooperation."

Ford and the Spaniards also will talk about renewing agreements that permit the United States to operate air and sea bases there.

Ford will fly to Salzburg next Sunday for meetings on the Middle East with President Anwar Sadat of Egypt. He hopes his sessions with Sadat and ones later in June in Washington with Premier Yitzhak Rabin of Israel will lead to progress toward a Middle East settlement.

"American interests, as well as those of allies, depend upon events in the Middle East," the President said. "Our policy is aimed at one goal — that of achieving a just peace. I will pursue that objective in Salzburg."

Ford will conclude his trip in Rome June 3 with meetings with Italian officials and Pope Paul VI.

Ford left behind a Congress split along party lines over his latest energy program which is expected to increase prices of gasoline by at least 1.5 per cent a gallon in early summer.

The President chided Congress for failing to approve a broad energy program, as he recommended in his State of the Union message last January. Therefore, Ford said he will: — Impose a second $1-per-barrel tariff on imported oil, effective June 1. Although the tariff is aimed at reducing consumption of foreign oil, the extra dollar, like the previous $1 tariff, also is likely to be added by oil companies to the price of the 40 per cent of domestic oil production that is exempt from price controls. This could mean an extra $255 million a month in oil company profits reflecting both dollar increments. Ford also has proposed a windfall profits tax on oil producers.

Michigan Property Taxing Blocked By Court Order

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A court suit has blocked a final decision on how much in property taxes Michigan citizens should pay this year.

"If the suit is upheld, there just won't be any tax base in Michigan...we wouldn't have to pay any property taxes," said Edward Kane, state Tax Commission executive secretary.

The suit by several citizens and the Montmorency Board of County Commissioners contends a tax increase contemplated by the state Tax Commission for the county would be illegally high.

The suit says current property taxes in the northern Lower Michigan county already amount to 50 per cent of "true cash value" of the property as law requires.

The state Tax Commission was prepared to set the final property tax picture for Michigan's 83 counties Tuesday, but was stopped by a permanent injunction from Montmorency County Circuit Court Judge Joseph Swallow a day earlier.

The next move is up to the state Court of Appeals or Supreme Court, said Larry Morgan, assistant attorney general working on behalf of the tax commission.

The state has asked the Court of Appeals for immediate action, and the Montmorency plaintiffs have asked the state Supreme Court to take immediate jurisdiction.

Edwardsburg Officer Is Saved By 'Vest'

By JOHN DYE
South Berrien Bureau

EDWARDSBURG — A bullet-proof vest was credited with saving the life of an Ontwa township — Edwardsburg village policeman in a shootout with a man west of here early this morning.

The officer, Jerry Myers, 36, was spun around when hit in the chest by one of three shots fired at him, but was only bruised because of the vest, Norman Krupp, the department's police chief said.

Three men wanted in connection with the shootout were still being sought by authorities in southwestern Michigan and northern Indiana.

One of the three may have been wounded in the exchange of shots in an industrial park near here, police said.

Myers fired three shots at the car containing the three as it was driven away, with the last one shattering the rear window, Krupp said. One of the three was believed to have been injured, he said.

Krupp gave this account of the shootout: Myers was alone on patrol in the industrial park just outside the village when he drove upon a man who was standing next to a parked car. When Myers pulled his police cruiser behind the parked car the man returned to the driver's compartment of the auto.

Myers said that as he looked into the parked car to ask the driver for identification he spotted a passenger in the front seat holding the barrel of what he believed to be a weapon. As Myers reached for his service revolver a third man sitting in the back seat of the car began firing and one of three shots hit the policeman.

Myers said impact of the shot spun him around partially, but that he fired two shots into the back seat of the auto.

As the car pulled away, Myers said he fired a third shot that broke out the back window of the car. The policeman said he gave chase to the fleeing auto, but lost it once it had crossed the state line into nearby St. Joseph county, Ind.

Krupp said that Myers' chest was bruised by the shot, but that he did not require treatment. The chief said Myers reported that he believed he injured the man sitting in the back seat of the auto.

Krupp described all three men as white and between the ages of 25 and 30. He said the auto sought by police is red Plymouth or Dodge with a jacked up back end and an air scoop in the front.

Police are uncertain as to the kind of weapons used by the trio, but Krupp said it is believed the passenger in the front seat was carrying a rifle and the man in the back seat a handgun.

Protection For State Consumer 'Weakened'

By MALCOLM JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The state Senate has weakened a major consumer protection bill which defines and outlaws deceptive trade practices.

The bill, which has failed to pass in each of the past nine years, has been bitterly contested by business. Now consumers groups indicate they're dissatisfied with its present form.

By a voice vote, the Senate on Tuesday accepted amendments to the bill as recommended by the Senate Judiciary Committee. They were largely offered by Sen. Daniel Cooper, D-Oak Park, who warned the House against strengthening the bill.

The amendments, which Cooper argued make the bill fairer for business, watered down penalties and exempted certain businesses which are regulated by other laws. Most significantly, however, they limited the attorney general's power in implementing the law by forbidding him to add other deceptive practices to those already spelled out.

The legislature would reserve that power for itself, but critics charge that would be too slow to block dangerous new schemes to bilk the consumer.

A similar measure passed by the House last year permitted the attorney general to specify other illegal acts. That bill died in the Senate.

Calling that measure "a monstrosity...an abomination," Cooper criticized consumers groups for excessive jealousy.

Playing The Numbers Is Not A Likely Panacea

New Jersey last week started to do what other lottery - operating states have only talked about — compete openly with the illegal "numbers" racket. Starting May 22, Garden State bettors have been able to buy a three-digit number of their choice at lottery outlets. State officials hope that the new lottery, called "Pick-It," will augment the income from the conventional lottery that has been operating since December 1970.

Before they raise their hopes too high, perhaps they should ponder the fate of neighboring Delaware's "Loto-Perfecta." Bettors there picked their own six-digit number, with the winner to be determined by the order of finish in a designated horse race.

The trouble is that there was no first-place winner during the five-week life of Loto Perfecta, and for three weeks there was no second-place winner. All told, only 40,000 persons bought the 50-cent lottery tickets. Gov. Sherman W. Tribbitt therefore suspended the lottery in mid-April, although it is expected to be revived later in somewhat different form.

Lottery officials have learned that they must resort to such gimmicks as Pick-It and Loto-Perfecta to keep the betting public's interest whetted. "The lottery is a product the same any other," said Edward J. Powers, New Hampshire's lottery director. "It has to be merchandised, promoted and improved. It's like razor blades and detergents — you always have to come out with something new."

Or something borrowed. New Jersey's innovations of weekly drawings, 50-cent tickets, and periodic million-dollar payoffs have been widely imitated. If Pick-It is successful, it, too, is sure to spread to other states.

Maryland is now running a special lottery in which the buyer of a 50-cent ticket could win $100 a week for life with a minimum $200,000 guarantee. A winning $1 ticket would bring $200 a week for life with a minimum guarantee of $400,000. Last summer, automobiles were offered as prizes.

While lotteries are now well entrenched in 13 states including Michigan, their survival is by no means guaranteed. Former Attorney General William B. Saxbe warned last summer that existing lotteries appeared to be violating an 1895 law banning the dissemination of lottery material through any mode of interstate commerce. Congress came to the rescue by exempting from prosecution under federal law the transportation, mailing and broadcasting of information on state lotteries.

Now the lotteries face a new threat. The U.S. Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms said last month it is considering enforcement of a rarely used provision of the federal gambling tax statute beginning July 1. The law states that persons selling lottery tickets must purchase a $500 federal gambling stamp every year and that states must contribute 2 per cent of their gross lottery revenues to the federal treasury. Once again, the states are looking to Congress for relief.

Lotteries continue to be attacked on moral and other grounds as well. Referring to New Jersey's venture into the numbers game, columnist Alan Abelson of Barron's financial weekly wrote: "If governments continue to encroach on the domain of the underworld, they'll wind up giving crime a bad name. And certainly making sure that it doesn't pay."

Besides which, if Michigan is a good example, lotteries don't return much in the way of significant net revenue anyway. The Wolverine state's take of about $60 million is peanuts compared with governmental budgets running into the billions.

Those Weird Forecasts Not So Far-Out Now

Washington seeress Jeanne Dixon to the contrary, it is becoming increasingly difficult in this age of science fiction writers seem hard pressed to project themselves far enough into the future to be interesting.

Forty years ago or so, at a time when the most exotic spacecraft was the dirigible, it was farfetched for dreamers to be talking of spaceships to the moon and ray guns which could penetrate almost any substance. Stories about such phenomena today will be found in the scientific journals, and they describe objects of the present, not the future.

A few years ago a number of scientists made comments on the future at a convention of electronics engineers. The sum of their remarks was that a vastly new world is unfolding, particularly for the advanced societies. What happened to some of their specific predictions, considered extreme at the time.

The then chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission spoke of a computerized society in which all transactions will be conducted by credit cards with recording machinery linked directly to computers. The computers, he said, will automatically deduct the amount of the purchase from the cardholder's account and transfer it to the store account.

Medical clinics were envisioned which would handle most routine patient complaints by computer reference to the patient's lifelong medical history and limitless sources of medical knowledge.

In the field of transportation, supersonic transports which would cross the oceans at speeds of 2,000 mph were mentioned. Dialing time on long distance calls, it was predicted, would be cut from 10 seconds to one. Not all of these predictions have materialized, although some have and others are close. Almost all are possible today with the information already at hand. All that remains is for the avalanche of new technology pouring out of the science labs to be assimilated and translated into action.

It is walking on dangerous ground to say science has almost exhausted its possibilities. One recalls the congressman who introduced a measure shortly after the Civil War to abolish the patent office because surely by that time, he said, everything of importance already had been invented.

What could possibly follow a totally computerized society engaging in travel to the most distant planets? Don't worry, the next generation will think of something.

STUDENT WRITES ABOUT HER SCHOOL

To those who read the report of the Dowagiac high school by the North Central Association, I would like to say the following: delete the praise of the administration, substitute Berrien Springs for Dowagiac and you will have a good idea of our school system.

I especially liked the part that says, "We are concerned that the total student activity effort has not led to an optimum level of student group cohesion. We are unsure that Dowagiac (Berrien Springs) students generally view the school as being "their thing" or that they have a meaningful voice in its direction." The last sentence should be in capital letters.

To continue: "A serious effort should be made to survey student opinion pursuant to restructuring the student government effort in such a manner as to acknowledge a meaningful and proper student voice in the affairs of the school."

Our present administration seems to prefer the "If you don't like it, quit" attitude, rather than taking more constructive action.

I also found it rather amusing to note that the chairman of the team making the report containing such lavish praise of the Dowagiac administration is now our superintendent, and was a principal at another school under the present superintendent of the Dowagiac school.

Would also like a logical reason why an adult student has to have a note from Mommy for anything or why parents should be contacted for any reason once a student reaches the legal age of 18.

Our school administration and board of education had better be giving this matter some serious thought because one of these days one of these people is going to ask the question: "Are they violating any of my civil rights?" and the system may well be unpleasantly surprised by the answer they get from a lawyer.

For those who missed reading this report, I suggest a visit to the library to read it. As we have two school board members to replace, it will be worth your time.

WONDERS ABOUT BRIDGMAN 'SPIRIT'

It seems that the "city fathers" of Bridgman intend to celebrate the Bicentennial not in the spirit of our country's founding fathers, but rather in the spirit of King George III, they need more tax revenues (which they know their own citizens will not give them) so they seek to acquire more land (colonies) at the expense of Lake Township.

And like King George they don't want anyone who lives in the areas to be annexed to have any say, or vote in the matter. They argue, like petty tyrants, that since fewer than one hundred people will be annexed, none of them has a right to cast a ballot of preference.

One wonders about the magic of the number one hundred, and how the Supreme Court might react to it.

The Bridgman bureaucrats might remember however, that hundred fewer than one people were involved in the Boston Tea Party and a couple other incidents which took place 200 years ago.

Let the call go out: No Annexation without Representation!

One of the bonds issued in 1877 when Benton Harbor was endeavoring to borrow $20,000 for the erection of Central school, and bearing the signatures of 45 prominent local citizens is a gift of Milton Hinkley to the Benton Harbor public library. In 1877 Benton Harbor was badly in need of a new school house, but said to say, no bonding house would loan the school board money because the whole village wasn't worth that much! One bonding house however, said that if 20 citizens would personally sign the bonds, thus giving their backing, it would advance the money. As a matter of fact the bonds bear the signature of 45 of the pioneer men of the city and form a roll of honor of the public spiritedness which has made Benton Harbor what it is today and laid the foundation for what it will be in the future.

The suggestion made by a correspondent elsewhere in this paper that the boys adjourn sports on Decoration day at least until after the solemn services in honor of the nation's heroes is excellent and timely advice. Much has been said — and said strongly and frequently — against the desecration of this supposed to be sacred day, but it has done little good, and the best that can be accomplished with the fun loving and irrepressible youth seems to be to ask him in mere decency's sake not to mingle his football shouts too closely with the noise of the dirge.

Justice of the peace John C. St. Clair was arrested Saturday night in St. Joseph for riding a bicycle without a headlight and this morning the other justice of the peace, Squire Smith, fined him $1 and costs. His honor's friends are bantering him with unlimited vigor.

Wallace Shouldn't Be Taken Lightly

WASHINGTON — When word passed recently that George Wallace was quoted as saying the U.S. may have fought on the wrong side in World War II, that he resents the nation having aligned itself with Russia, a collective idea emerged in the camps of his adversaries: lo, after many years, the man has finally gone too far, he has given us a glimpse of his intellect.

Some weeks past the event now, it should be reported that the collective idea, for the moment anyway, was in error. Not only was Wallace's thought not so simple or so cruel as believed, but the controversy that surrounded it apparently did not scratch in the tiniest hardcore support of his followers.

A reading of the complete Wallace statement concerning World War II indicates some factual errors on the governor's part, but no shocking sympathy with Nazism. Wallace said merely that more prudent U.S. policies might have prevented Nazi-Japanese expansion in the 1930s, thus the war itself and the need for the West to embrace the Soviet Union. Many historians have said as much.

As for the hope the Wallace wit, taken at its worse, might stun his constituency, all those service station owners who were sergeants in Patton's army, that possibility has died in the governor's mailbox. Elvin Stanton, press aide to Wallace in Alabama, says it thus: "We've received some criticism, mainly because the statements were misrepresented. But on the whole, our mail shows that people have been able to see through the press reports. They write in to say, in effect, it's a shame the governor can't be treated fairly and accurately in newspapers."

All things considered then, George Wallace has emerged from the incident unmarked. And properly so. He was treated shabbily in press reports of his remarks, and justice rightly kissed his scowling cheek. Nonetheless, that collective idea mentioned earlier may still be retrievable: George Wallace's mind has always been his worst enemy, the more it's explored the less is discovered. Thus if at last he can be persuaded to open it entirely for public inspection the possibility is that those who view its contents, unembellished, will be unimpressed.

Actually, with some exceptions, even that part of Wallace thought that has been recorded has been worthless so far as it has been part of any meaningful conclusion. Reporters tend to keep their ears tuned for what they expect the man to say, rather than what he sometimes does say. And to be sure he never fails to satisfy, for although he's threatened a million times to run over hippies he knows the line is never too tired for a headline. If the shallowness of his mind is George Wallace's worst enemy, the shallowness of scribes is his best friend.

How much better and wiser it would be to handle the governor for what he is, a potent social force and a serious political movement. The nation deserves more than just to be bored, or titillated, whenever he creates a new smart-aleck shot; people and democracy profit only when a Wallace, as a Ford or a Kennedy, is probed more than poked. We know what the governor thinks of the Supreme Court — "It is a sorry, lousy, no account outfit" — but what does he think about the possibility that Turkey may one day decide to confiscate U.S. nuclear weapons there?

Let him talk. Make him talk. And then, after that, if 40 million voters elect him president, at least we'll know it's not just the governor who is scary, it's the people who follow him, too.

Violence Marks 'Kindness' Day

Rep. Ron Dellums, black leftist from Berkeley, Calif., has been complaining that the media played up, for racist reasons, the horrendous occurrences at the recent Human Kindness Day in Washington, D.C.

My own impression is just the reverse. Human Kindness Day was incredible, and also instructive, but how much have you yourself, for example, heard about it? Probably not much, if anything at all.

The name Human Kindness Day, first of all, was grossly inappropriate, and Jonathan Swift and George Orwell must be getting a big kick out of it somewhere.

On the day in question, some 125,000 people turned up at the Washington Monument for a concert by Stevie Wonder, a blind rock star. This conclave was a mere golf shot from the window of President Gerald Ford's Oval Office.

There then transpired an orgy of violence with strong racial overtones. According to all reports, and to all eyewitnesses I have talked with, blacks — roaming bands of ghetto toughs — were the aggressors. Hundreds of people went to the hospital. Rapes, robberies, and savage beatings took place in broad daylight. One participant in Human Kindness Day had his right eye put out by an ice pick.

While all this was going on, the huge crowd remained largely passive, and the District of Columbia police did little to help the victims or restrain the toughs. One witness I talked with, a cab driver, saw a girl (white) slugged and kicked around while several policemen stood idly by. It was later reported that the D.C. police had specific orders not to act against blacks committing acts of violence. The official view was that the police were too few in number to handle a race riot if police action precipitated one, and this was probably true.

Thomas Hobbes was right, Peter Yarrow wrong. When civilized restraints break down, we slide toward the state of nature in which life is solitary, nasty, brutish and short. And, ultimately, the guarantor of those restraints is the policeman's monopoly of force. George Wallace senses this and expresses the point hyperbolically when he says that the way to reduce street crime in the District of Columbia would be to move a division of troops in.

The outrages in Washington point to one inescapable conclusion. These mass rock concerts are chronic generators of personal violence and property damage. It may be necessary to ban them, but, at the very least, their sponsors ought to be held responsible for providing the police protection necessary to maintain order. Such protection would evidently have to be massive. But why should the community foot the bill? And why should any community put up with the kind of total breakdown that occurred as a kind of early bicentennial celebration at the Washington Monument?

Meanwhile, the school system in neighboring St. George's County, Maryland, provides some accompanying grace notes. According to a teacher there, the new code of conduct provides that there will be "No suspensions for fighting, use of alcohol, carrying dangerous weapons, persistent disobedience or use of firecrackers." Suspensions occur only if the behavior of a student is so dangerous that it poses an immediate threat to the safety of others.

That must be an interesting "learning environment." No doubt some of the "students" turned up at the Washington Monument on Human Kindness Day.

$200,000 Shopping Center For Coloma

COLOMA — Plans for a proposed $200,000 shopping center along Ryno road were announced to the Coloma city commission last night.

The development would be on a 24-acre site where Harding's market is now located. The market would be a separate building in the development.

Mrs. Patricia Beezley, city clerk, told the commission that a 60 by 240 foot building to house nine stores would be located across from the grocery store.

Mrs. Beezley said the development would contain a real estate office, a pizza parlor, decorator shop, clothing store and drug store at least.

According to Mrs. Beezley, bids for the construction were opened last week in Grand Rapids. She gave the $200,000 cost estimate to the project after the meeting.

James Noack, public works coordinator for the city, showed the commission drawings of the proposal.

Developer of the project is Spartan Stores Inc., according to project architects Van Wienen and Postema Architects of Grand Rapids. The building is to be constructed on land located directly south of Harding's store which is owned by Spartan Stores, the architects said.

In other areas, the commission recommended revision of the city's truck route to provide for local truck drivers to park their trucks at the former railroad station.

Action followed complaints by area truck drivers over not being allowed to enter the city for overnight and weekend parking. The commission approved an ordinance governing disposal of industrial waste discharges into the city's sewer system.

Gil DuVernay of M. Steffen company and John Strzyzewski of Menasha corporation sought to learn charges their firms would have to pay under the ordinance, but were told the amount could not be determined until the amount of actual discharge was known.

The commission approved requests from the Coloma Lions club to park the Lions sight-mobile along Paw Paw avenue, during the week of June 29 and for holding a Logan street block party, June 7, by residents.

The commission voted to notify local state officials of its opposition toward bills in Lansing aimed at comprehensive public disclosure information and a senior citizens tax deferral bill.

The commission approved preparation of bid specifications on four street improvements and three water main installations, with details to be ready by for the commission's June 23 meeting. The bids will be prepared by R. W. Petrie and Associates, of St. Joseph.

The commission approved advertising for bids for a new police car of an intermediate size, to be opened at 8:30 p.m., June 23.

Commissioner Robert Wooley announced that the city has received approval from the state department of natural resources to begin work on Randall Community park.

Stevensville Boy Suffers Eye Wound

Ten-year-old Darrell Schrag of Stevensville was listed in "stable" condition today at Memorial hospital, St. Joseph, after he was shot in the eye with a BB gun Monday afternoon.

Darrell is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Schrag, 1657 Barbara Ann drive.

Berrien sheriff's deputies said the incident occurred while he and another boy were playing in Darrell's yard. Deputies termed it "purely accidental" and said it appeared there was no major damage to the eye.

Brown Says BH Schools Lose Millions

Benton Harbor City Commissioner Carl Brown last night charged the Benton Harbor school system with a "lack of concern" in failing to develop a desegregation plan for the school district which he claimed was costing the school "millions of dollars" in federal funds.

Brown said at the city commission meeting last night that the school system had failed to draw up a desegregation plan, and does not qualify for funds from the federal Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) because of this.

HEW's refusal to provide grants to Benton Harbor schools is a result of a court ruling by U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in November, 1974, which ruled that there were elements of de jure segregation in the Benton Harbor school system, according to Brown.

No action was taken on Brown's charges last night, but the city clerk was directed to draw up a resolution which commissioners will vote on next week.

Continuing complaints, Mayor Charles Joseph charged the Berrien County Manpower council with a "clear line of discrimination against the City of Benton Harbor" in distributing federal Comprehensive Employment Training Act (CETA) funds.

Joseph said that the county council had distributed mostly the "more structured" Title II funds and hardly any of the "more flexible" Title I funds to the city.

Title II CETA funds are limited to hiring employees at a salary of $10,000 or less. Title I CETA funds are more flexible and can be used for higher ranging salaries and administrative costs.

The commission voted to pay a demolition contractor and sue property owners if they fail to pay demolition costs when they were relocated by the city.

City Manager Charles Morrison recommended that the commission pay H & H Construction, of Benton Harbor, $850 for demolition and sue Mr. and Mrs. Haught Easley, 575 Pipestone, for the costs. Morrison said over $11,000 was paid to the Easleys under the Neighborhood Development Program for relocation and a portion of the payment was to be used to pay for demolition of their former home at 788 Highland.

The commission voted to purchase 18.4 acres of land for $14,500 on the east side of Crystal avenue, north of the city-owned Crystal Springs cemetery, for further development of the cemetery. Funds for purchase of the land, which is part of the C.J. Dunn estate, will come from the cemetery budget.

In other action, the commission:

— Approved the bid of Craftsmen Painting Service, Inc., of Oak Forest, Ill., of $13,400, to paint the city's water tower.

— Approved the appointment of Charles Johnson, 368 Cass street, to the Community Development Citizens Advisory board.

— Voted to offer condolences to the John E. Carr family. Carr and his two sons, Jonathon and Darrell, drowned May 20 when a storm hit North Grand Mere lake where they were fishing.

— Set a public hearing for June 16 on demolition of substandard housing at 754 Ogden, 676 Ogden, 735 East Main and 658 Ogden.

Pipestone OKs Funds For Courts

EAU CLAIRE — Pipestone township board Monday night granted a request for $2,500 from the Greater Eau Claire Recreation council to be used toward construction of tennis courts on property behind the Eau Claire middle school.

Paul Bergan, president of the council, told the board that total cost of the tennis courts would be $18,000, with municipalities in the Eau Claire school district, the school board, and council fund raising projects footing the bill.

In other areas, the township board spread delinquent taxes from 1972-73-74 totaling $5,585. The Eau Claire school district will receive $5,444 and the township $141.

Van Buren GOP Backs David Upton

PAW PAW — David Upton of St. Joseph has received the endorsement of the Van Buren county Republican party executive committee to fill a vacancy on the University of Michigan Board of Regents, according to Mrs. William (Bee) Lackey of Paw Paw, party chairman.

Upton, who is president of Southwestern Michigan Abstract and Title company, was an unsuccessful Republican candidate for a regent's position in the November election.

The vacancy on the Board of Regents occurred with the recent appointment of Lawrence Lindemeyer to the state supreme court. Mrs. Lackey said a letter has been sent to Gov. Milliken, notifying him of Upton's endorsement.

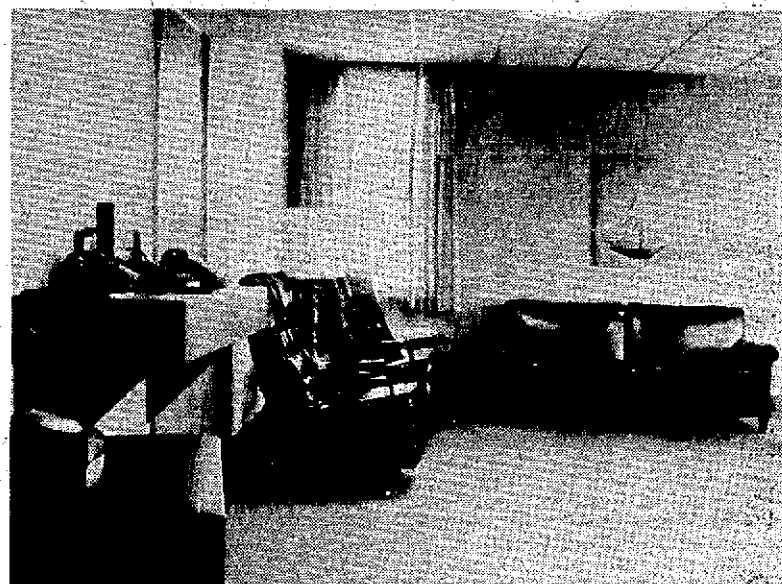

Police Seek Hit-Run Driver

Berrien sheriff's deputies are looking for an unidentified auto that struck a Three Rivers man Sunday as he was walking along the side of a road in Warren Dunes State park, Lake township.

Richard Milhollan received only minor leg injuries and was treated and released from Memorial hospital, St. Joseph.

FIRE STATION OPEN HOUSE: St. Joseph Fire department, which in the past year obtained a $75,000 pumper with aerial boom and has just completed $75,000 in interior remodeling, plans open house 1 to 5 p. m. Troupe From Jamaica Coming To BH July 1-3

A touring group of 25 dancers, singers and musicians from Jamaica and surrounding islands are scheduled to perform three days in Benton Harbor, July 1-3.

Chris Davenport, director of the Benton Harbor city recreation department, said the troupe will come here under a program developed by the Smithsonian Institution of Washington, D.C.

Similar touring groups of artists will visit other towns and cities across this country during the summer as part of a national outreach effort designed to share the ethnic heritage of America with Americans. The program has grown out of the Festival of American Folklife presented by the Smithsonian Institution and the National Park Service on the National Mall in Washington the past nine years.

Davenport said the recreation department is seeking $2,000 from any local companies, civic organizations and individuals interested in co-sponsoring the event. The money is the local share required to bring the troupe to Benton Harbor.

BH Ball Park Will Be Dedicated On Thursday

The Babe Ruth ball park off West Empire avenue, Benton Harbor, will be formally designated the John C. Sams ball park with the unveiling of a nameplate at 5 p.m. Thursday at the park.

Benton Harbor city and school district officials will participate, the mayor's office reported. The unveiling will highlight Athletics' day, a part of Benton Harbor week this week. Sams, a graduate of Benton Harbor high school and an outstanding basketball player, died May 4 at Memorial hospital, where he had been under treatment for a spinal ailment. He was 45.

The mayor's office also said a business-industry day luncheon, scheduled for today, was cancelled, because too few could be assembled at the scheduled time. Business and industrial leaders will be among citizens honored during a banquet at 6 p.m. Friday, at Ramada Inn.

Naines Tells SJ School Board Platform

Joseph B. Naines Jr., a candidate for the St. Joseph board of education, has outlined his platform for the upcoming election including advocating increased participation by the Citizens Advisory council in exploring workable programs to implement school board policy.

Naines, along with William I. Glines and Mrs. Emanuel (Rosalya) Von Koenig, is a candidate for the lone school board seat open. Glines is the incumbent.

In a written release Naines stated, "The advisory council is a latest source of knowledgeable talent in diverse areas — let's increase its participation in exploring workable programs to implement board policy."

The three candidates have been invited to appear on a panel discussion tonight at 7:30 p.m. in the auditorium of Milton junior high school.

Naines' other policy stands were outlined as follows:

— Obtain support of federal and state programs for school programs and improve the cost-benefit use of the tax dollar.

— Increase the usage of community and school resources for student and community benefit.

— Seek community support for a better school system by communicating to the public the benefits derived from a good school system.

— Develop programs which will permit the schools to better adjust and relate to the changing needs of the students, community and the economy.

— Work with the teachers to identify and support areas in which professional development would increase the effectiveness of the education programs — near term and far term.

Naines resides at 314 Murphy court, St. Joseph. He is employed by Whirlpool as an economist. He and his wife, Angelajo, have two daughters, Monica and Maribeth.

Schools Study To Be Main Focus For Local LWV

ANNUAL MEETING: Members of the education committee of the League of Women Voters of the Benton Harbor-St. Joseph area met with its luncheon speaker area met with the speaker for the luncheon which followed the League's annual meeting May 24. From left, are Mrs. Emanuel (Roslyn) Von Koenig, education chairman; Miss Beverly Hawkins Benton

Indian Center Director Is Speaker

By ARLYS DERRICK
Women's Editor

A "Know Your Schools" study will be the main focus for the League of Women Voters of the Benton Harbor-St. Joseph area for 1975-76, according to decision made by the League at its annual meeting May 24 at the Benton Harbor Holiday Inn.

Education was also the focus of the LWV luncheon speaker, Joe Winchester, executive director of the newly established Indian center at Watervliet, as he highlighted educational opportunities offered the Native American at the present time.

The League's 1974-75 "Know Your Schools" survey which covered the Benton Harbor, St. Joseph, and Lakeshore schools, will be used as a basis for the 1975-76 study.

The study, as recommended by the membership, will include putting the three district budgets into identical form so that figures are comparable and adding information on all revenues received and expended which are not included in the budget distributed to the public. The study will also be expanded to include curriculum with emphasis on career education and survey of parent participation in school functions.

The League gave its continued support to its Grand Mere land use position adopted last year and directed the League board to update the position by rechecking whether or not boundary line recommendations should include more property. At the present time the League recommends that the State Grand Mere Interpretative park should be expanded to include the entire 1,000 acres of Grand Mere bounded by Thorton road on the east, Willow road on the south, Grand Mere road on the north, and Lake Michigan on the west.

The local program also includes continuance of its support of development of a comprehensive program for prevention and treatment of drug abuse through its drugs and narcotics abuse study, continued support for the enactment of effective fair housing ordinances in the cities of St. Joseph and Benton Harbor and the townships of Benton, St. Joseph, Royalton, and Lincoln to further the goal of equal opportunity in housing, and a continued study on juvenile detention and rehabilitation facilities. Winchester, addressing LWV members at luncheon following their annual business meeting, said that on the state level Native American studies programs are being offered today at Michigan State, Western Michigan, and Northern Michigan universities and the University of Michigan. At each of these schools, he said, there is a native American employed as a recruiter of Native American students. The recruiters also give counseling and curriculum advice and arrange financial aid such as scholarship grants from the Bureau of Indian Affairs.

Through the Indian Education Act of 1972 (HEW), Winchester said that under Title IV, Part A, Indian Parent committees have been formed in the area school districts of Benton Harbor, Buchanan, Hartford, Kalamazoo, South Haven, Dowagiac, and Brandywine which have the final decision on how the federal funds from the program are to be utilized. Primary purpose of the committees is to work with the student and parents to decrease the dropout rate of the Indian student within the district.

One of the projects for the Southwestern Michigan center aiming to keep Indian youths in school, offering financial assistance by providing parttime employment in the area — even if it is only one hour before and one hour after school, Winchester said.

The center which was established in November, 1974, is located in the old St. Joseph church and rectory in Watervliet and employs six Native Americans full time who work in the areas of Indian aging, community health, and youth work experiences.

In a 1973 tribal council survey in a three-county area, Winchester said, the most immediate problem was found to be education although, he indicated, year by year there are more educated Indians.

Describing the modern form of tribal government, Winchester said the tribal membership chooses its own tribal council which is headed by a tribal chairman, the office Winchester holds for the Potawatomi tribe.

The chairman is assisted by a tribal secretary and a tribal treasurer, and, in some cases, by a tribal vice chairman. Like other modern forms of administration, the council has committees such as policy, education, activities, treaty, and cultural heritage.

The League of Women Voters is a nonpartisan organization. It takes action on issues following objective study and consensus, but neither supports nor opposes political parties or candidates.

The League, according to its policy of nonpartisanship, recognizes that the United States system of government is based on the two-party system of government and encourages its non-board members to work actively in the political parties of their choice.

During the morning business session the local League elected Mrs. Charles (Jane) Morrison first vice president and Miss Linda Register secretary. New directors include Mrs. Les (Mimi) Elwell, Mrs. Arnold (Marcia) Smith, Mrs. Emanuel (Roslyn) Von Koenig, and Mrs. Lewis (Corrine) Wood.

Other elected board members completing a two-year term of office include Mrs. Eugene (Mary Helen) Ross, president; Mrs. Charles (Gay) Harrison, second vice president; Mrs. Robert (Evelyn) Quevillon, treasurer, and Mrs. Charles (Ellen) Kehoe and Mrs. James (Mary Ellen) Long, directors.

Pageant Directors Reelect Mrs. Isaac

Mrs. Leo (Florine) Isaac has been reelected president of the board of directors of the Miss Southwestern Michigan Scholarship pageant.

She will also serve as director of the annual pageant scheduled for November at Lake Michigan college through affiliation with the community services department at the college.

Allen Curneal, Benton Harbor, and Dale Pallas, Dowagiac, are vice presidents; Leo Isaac, Benton Harbor, treasurer; Mrs. Dale (Nancy) Pallas, Dowagiac, recording secretary, and Mrs. William (Janice) Stouffer, Benton Harbor, corresponding secretary.

Members-at-large on the board are Mrs. Gloria LaPointe, Niles; Rick Nash, Stevensville, and William Stouffer, Benton Harbor.

Mrs. Isaac is assistant to the owner of the Sleepy Owl women's apparel shop in Sawyer. She is a charter member of the pageant which is now in its third year as an official preliminary to the Miss Michigan and Miss America scholarship pageants. The franchise includes all of Berrien and Cass counties as well as reciprocal agreements with surrounding counties.

Mrs. Isaac, her husband, Leo, and son Geoffrey, live in Benton Harbor.

To Wed July 11

The engagement of Miss Tanya Mammima and Ted Anton of Fruitport was announced at a luncheon-shower May 17 at Berrien Hills Country Club.

Hosting the party were Mr. and Mrs. J.R. Mammima, Mr. and Mrs. Pat Larzelere and Mr. and Mrs. Ron Batson. Miss Mammima, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben J. Mammima, 216 Hainpton road, Benton Harbor, attended and instructed at Twin City Beauty college. She is a student at Grand Valley State college.

Her fiancé is a graduate of Grand Valley State college and is employed at Newkirk Electric company, Muskegon.

A July 11 wedding is planned.

Ever think about the floor around your washer and dryer? It should be washed frequently. Then if a freshly laundered article is accidentally dropped, it won't matter. If the floor is cement, consider placing a piece of linoleum or vinyl in the laundry area.

Baha'i Observance

Baha'is around the world will commemorate the Ascension of Baha'u'llah, prophet-founder of the Baha'i Faith Thursday, May 29.

It was on May 29 in 1892 that Baha'u'llah died. He was born in 1817 and because of his teachings spent more than 40 years of his life in exile, banishment and prison.

Baha'is believe he is the promised one of all religions and that his coming ushers in the age of fulfillment mentioned in all the prophecies of the past. They see his teachings and laws as those necessary to bring about world peace and unity, Baha'is spokesmen say.

The final years of Baha'u'llah's life were spent as a prisoner at Bahji, near the prison city of Acca in the Holy Land. The tomb of Baha'u'llah at Bahji is considered a holy shrine and a place of pilgrimage by Baha'is.

Receives Grant

VIENNA (AP) — The newly restored Vienna Concert House has received a one-time subsidy of $550,000 from the city for the restoration of the interior.

The house reopened with a performance of all Gustav Mahler music conducted by Leonard Bernstein at the head of the Vienna Philharmonic orchestra.

The city of Vienna contributed about $25 million for cultural projects during the previous year, 1973, it has been announced. The figure does not include sums that other Viennese institutions, such as the library and museums, spent for cultural programs.

Housed Best In America

Only five countries built 10 or more dwelling units per 1,000 people during the 1960s, reported the United Nations.

They were Japan, Sweden, Russia, Switzerland and West Germany. Nevertheless, Americans were the best housed.

Berrien County Medical Auxiliary Installs Mrs. James Grove

Mrs. James N. Grove, Niles, has been installed president of the auxiliary to the Berrien County Medical Society during a dinner meeting May 20 at Holiday Inn, Benton Harbor.

Other officers include Mrs. Warren Wise, St. Joseph, president-elect; Mrs. Charles Payne, St. Joseph, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Aquiles Lira, Niles, recording secretary, and Mrs. Grover Fattie Jr., Niles, treasurer.

Mrs. Grove said, "Because of the size of the county, the Berrien auxiliary has difficulty transacting business and providing community services that are needed at the north and south parts of the county."

She added, "In an attempt to encourage more participation and cohesiveness, the auxiliary plans more afternoon meetings this year — in addition to joint meetings with husbands in the evening."

"Information concerning current legislation dealing with ways to implement malpractice insurance for doctors continues to be of prime interest in auxiliaries throughout the state."

Plan Ahead Before Loading Freezer

The convenience of a home freezer can only be measured by the way it is utilized. Plan ahead before loading up on unnecessary food items. The Soap and Detergent Association suggests considering the freezer's capacity, and family likes and dislikes first.

Instead of stocking up on foods which are available and consistently inexpensive throughout the year, choose those items which the family can expect to use until the same food is in season again. Sale items are great, if the bargains are family preferences. But, one item well stocked, should not take up space for necessities!

When packaging foods, think about how they will be used. You may freeze foods in meal-size portions, for example, individual hamburger patties which can be used one or five at a time; soup or main-dish casseroles and stews into individual or family portions; a large roast cut into two; desserts made in serving-size containers.

Prepare and freeze fresh products only: meats, fish, poultry, dairy products. Make sure fruits are at the peak of freshness — firm and fully ripe. Vegetables are best when garden fresh and frozen no more than two or three hours after they are picked.

Have foods readily accessible by dating and labeling each package with a marking pen before freezing. Rotate foods so that older items are used first. Keep a record of foods stored and don't keep them for long periods of time.

Package and seal carefully to preserve the high quality of fresh foods. Containers and wrappings should be moisture-vapor-proof, and packages sealed tightly in order to keep moisture in and air out! Loss of moisture causes drying out of fruits and vegetables, and freezer burn in meats and poultry. Good packaging materials also provide a barrier to movement of oxygen from the freezer air into the package. This characteristic is especially important for meat and poultry freezing to prevent rancidity of the fat in these foods.

Fruits and vegetables are often frozen in folding cartons with plastic bag liners; waxed containers; rigid receptacles made of plastic or metal, and freezer glass jars with tight-fitting, leak and rust-proof lids and screw-on caps. Meat, fish, poultry and game wrap includes heavy-duty aluminum freezer foil; cellophane; wax-coated paper; polyethylene bags and folding cartons lined with plastic. Some of these are also used for dairy products, stews, casseroles, desserts and baked goods.

A first step in preparing foods for the freezer is to assemble supplies — packaging materials, cutting boards, utensils, marking pen. Make sure all items and work surfaces are scrupulously clean. Wash everything with hot detergent or soap suds and dry thoroughly before using. Tie back hair so that it doesn't fall into anything. Then, scrub hands, fingernails and wrists before handling any food.

Before preparing fruit, taste a sample of the harvest yield, if possible. Once it's passed this freshness test, the secret to correct fruit-freezing is quick handling and prompt freezing. No cooking or blanching is required. Simply, wash fruit in cold water, a small quantity at a time, and drain thoroughly. Peel and cut up, if necessary.

There are three fruit-packing methods: dry, with sugar or in syrup. Some light-colored fruits such as apples, apricots, peaches can become darkened when frozen due to oxidation. An anti-oxidant (ascorbic acid, citric acid such as lemon or lime juice, or a commercial product) should be used to preserve color. Consult the freezing chapter of a cookbook or an appliance manufacturer's supplementary manual on freezing techniques. When packing fruits allow for expansion by leaving 1/2-inch room at the top of pint containers and one-inch for quart sizes.

Preparing vegetables for freezing is essentially the same as for the table. Wash them thoroughly in cold water. Sort or cut into sizes for freezing.

Blanching or scalding is important for all vegetables except green peppers, in order to arrest the action of enzymes and stop ripening or maturing. Blanching is done in either boiling water or steam; consult a manual for timetable suggestions. After blanching, vegetables should be cooled immediately to stop any cooking, and to retain color and texture. Chill under cold running water or ice water, drain thoroughly and pack dry. Pack firmly but not tightly.

When preparing fresh meat, poultry or fish for freezing, remove butcher's paper or any moisture-absorbing paper-board. Prepare meats in meal-size packages. Separate cut meats and patties by putting two pieces of foil, waxed or freezer paper between layers. Wrap meats, poultry or fish tightly in preferred packaging materials: use freezer tape to seal.

After handling raw meat, poultry or fish, it is imperative to wash hands, utensils and cutting boards or work surfaces with hot suds and water before working with other foods.

Add Storage Space

A long, low bank of cabinets along a window wall may be the answer to a bedroom lacking adequate storage space.

A pleasing application combines a window seat with counter-high cabinets flanking the window. A fold-up seat allows access to storage under the window level. When space is tight, narrow, adjustable shelves of one by 10-inch pine or fir boards can accommodate a variety of items.

For storage of infrequently used items, cabinets can be hung on the walls, extending from the ceiling down about two feet. Louvered wood doors are a practical choice for bedroom storage cabinets, combining good ventilation with distinctive appearance.

Revival Services

A series of revival services will be held Thursday, May 29, through Sunday, June 1, at Community Bible Baptist Fellowship.

Community Bible Baptist Fellowship is located at the YMCA annex, at East Britain and Crystal, Benton Harbor.

Speaker Thursday and Friday at 7:30 p.m. will be the Rev. George M. Joseph, founder of Faith Baptist church, South Bend, Ind. He is a graduate of Moody Bible Institute and is founder-director of the Faith Baptist Bible Institute.

Speaker Sunday at 11 a.m. will be the Rev. Andrew Phillips Sr., director of the Community Bible Baptist Fellowship. The public is invited.

USE UNEXPECTED SPECIALS

Transform Today's Bargains

There was a time when food prices were reasonably predictable. We knew we could count on low prices on lamb in the spring, good values in pork in the fall. However, the past two years have changed the picture.

Today, even though all prices are generally higher, specials come at unexpected times. You never know when you will spot a bargain in pork chops, beef prices seem to see-saw up and down with no recognizable pattern.

The smart shopper today is flexible, and may do her week's menu planning in the aisles of the supermarket when she finds out what's available and a good value.

The recipes which follow, both of which are sized for a company meal (or a large family) take advantage of this philosophy. Use them when the protein food is cheap — you'll be rewarded with an outstanding meal, exciting enough to please the most discriminating guests.

Flounder Newburg is a take-off on the classic Lobster Newburg, and can be made with other white fish filets on sale in your market. Canned full-strength chicken broth forms the easy base for a smooth and elegant sauce, cream with half and half and gently flavored with sherry. The fish is poached in chicken broth as a first step, then this broth is utilized in the sauce for extra flavor. Mushrooms and Parmesan cheese add gourmet touches.

This delicate dish is best prepared in individual casseroles which will keep the food hot even at a buffet meal. You might accompany Flounder Newburg with mixed brown and long grain rice, a salad and tiny frozen peas.

You will undoubtedly be delighted with the new taste combination offered by Pork Chops Stroganoff. The chops are browned, then onions, carrots and celery are sautéed in the same pan. The chops are returned, and all is simmered in canned full-strength beef broth with a whisper of dill. After the chops are tender, the pan juices are thickened and mixed with sour cream and seasonings. Truly a splendid invention; serve the chops with fluffy mashed potatoes, cole slaw and buttered broccoli.

Next time you have company, try one of these gourmet budget-stretchers and serve with pride.

FLOUNDER NEWBURG

2 pounds frozen or fresh flounder filets

1 can (13½-oz.) chicken broth

2 tablespoons lemon juice

6 tablespoons butter or margarine

½ cup all-purpose flour

3 cups half and half

¼ cup dry sherry

1 cup chicken broth drained from fish

1 can (6-oz.) sliced mushrooms, drained

Salt and pepper

6 tablespoons cornflake crumbs

6 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese

Lemon slices and parsley for garnish (optional)

In large saucepan, combine fish, chicken broth and lemon juice. Bring to boiling, lower heat and simmer 20 minutes or until fish turns white and flakes easily when pierced with a fork. Drain fish, reserving one cup of the poaching liquid. Divide fish among eight one-cup baking casseroles.

In saucepan, melt butter and stir in flour. Gradually stir in half and half and sherry. Stir in the one cup poaching liquid.

Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until sauce bubbles and thickens. Add mushrooms and season to taste with salt and pepper. Pour sauce evenly over fish in casseroles. Mix crumbs and cheese and sprinkle mixture thickly over tops of casseroles. Bake in a preheated moderate oven (350 degrees) for 30 to 35 minutes or until richly browned. Garnish with lemon slices and parsley, if desired. Makes eight servings.

PORK CHOPS STROGANOFF

6 pork chops, about 1-inch thick

Salt and pepper

¼ cup butter or margarine

2 onions, sliced

2 carrots, sliced

1 cup sliced celery

1 can (13½-oz.) beef broth

2 tablespoons chopped dill or 2 teaspoons dill weed

¼ cup cornstarch

1 cup sour cream

2 teaspoons Worcestershire

Salt and pepper

Sprinkle pork chops on both sides with salt and pepper. In large skillet, heat butter and brown chops on both sides. Remove chops and set aside.

Add onion, carrots and celery and sauté over medium heat for five minutes. Add beef broth and dill. Place chops on top of vegetables. Cover tightly and simmer for one hour or until chops are fork-tender. Remove chops to a platter and keep warm. Mix cornstarch with ¼ cup water until smooth; stir into skillet juices. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until sauce bubbles and thickens. Stir in sour cream, Worcestershire and salt and pepper to taste. Reheat until sauce just bubbles. Pour sauce over chops. Makes six servings.

1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon aromatic biters
2 tablespoons prepared mustard

1 tablespoon onion juice
3 lemons

¼ teaspoon rosemary
¼ teaspoon thyme

6 tablespoons grated cheese

Combine bread crumbs with beef, chili sauce, egg, salt, biters, mustard and onion juice.

Mix well. Divide meat mixture into six portions. Shape each to resemble a cutlet, wrap in waxed paper and chill at least half an hour. Cut tomatoes in half, crosswise. Sprinkle cut surfaces with rosemary, thyme.

Arrange chilled cutlets and tomatoes, cut side up, on broiler rack. Broil about eight minutes; turn cutlets with pancake turner. Sprinkle tomatoes with cheese and broil cutlets and tomatoes about five minutes longer. Serve immediately. Makes six portions.

Meatless meals have much to offer today. They are economical, good for you and a great way to add variety to family meals.

It has been pointed out by many nutritionists and doctors that Americans eat too much meat. This kind of diet, rich in saturated animal fats and cholesterol, can help contribute to high blood cholesterol levels, one of the risk factors associated with coronary heart disease.

Try serving at least one meatless meal per week to lower your family's intake of saturated fats and cholesterol.

MINISTRONE

1 cup dried white beans

10 cups water

2 tablespoons corn oil margarine

1 cup chopped onion

1 cup chopped celery

2 tablespoons chopped parsley

1 clove garlic, minced

1 can (1-lb.) whole tomatoes, undrained

4 cups (about 6-oz.) fresh torn spinach

1 cup elbow macaroni

1 cup diced potato

½ cup chopped carrot

1 medium zucchini, sliced

2 teaspoons salt

¼ teaspoon oregano leaves, crushed

¼ teaspoon black pepper

¼ teaspoon crushed red pepper (optional)

¼ teaspoon thyme leaves, crushed

4 beef bouillon cubes or envelopes

Combine beans and water in a large saucepot or Dutch oven. Bring to a boil; cover and simmer until tender about two hours.

Melt margarine in a medium skillet. Add onions, celery, parsley and garlic; sauté until tender, about five minutes. Add to beans with remaining ingredients. Bring to a boil; reduce heat and let simmer, uncovered, 30 minutes, stirring occasionally. Makes 13 servings.

MACARONI CASSEROLE ITALIANA

1 cup uncooked macaroni

1 tablespoon butter or margarine

¼ cup chopped onion

¼ cup chopped green pepper

¾ cup grated cheddar cheese

1 package (10-oz.) frozen green peas

1 (15-oz.) can spaghetti sauce with meat

Preheat oven to 400 degrees. Cook macaroni according to package directions. Drain well. Melt butter in skillet. Add onion and green pepper and cook until tender but not brown. Mix cooked macaroni, vegetables, one-half can of sauce and one-half of cheese. Place in two-quart casserole. Top with remaining sauce and cheese. Bake for about 25 minutes. Makes four servings.

Make Crumb Coating

Make your own enriched bread crumb coating and save. Dry bread slices in 250 degree oven until crisp but not brown. Put them in your blender on medium speed for a few seconds. Or, place pieces of bread in strong plastic bag or between pieces of wax paper and roll with a rolling pin. Store covered in dry place.

To season, stir one cup dried bread crumbs with one tablespoon crushed oregano leaves, one-half teaspoon ground thyme, one-half teaspoon onion salt, one-half teaspoon salt and one-fourth teaspoon ground pepper. Makes about one cup.

Instant Sauce Supreme

An "Instant" sauce supreme to crown asparagus or broccoli? The secret — a can of rich chicken gravy!

In saucepan, gradually blend one can (10½ ounces) chicken gravy and generous dash pepper into two tablespoons sour cream.

Heat, stir occasionally. Makes about one cup. Delicious with fried chicken and rice, too!

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

'People' Bags Now In Vogue

Dear Ann Landers: Last night I had a dinner date with an attractive young man who is a successful attorney. He took me to a fashionable (and expensive) restaurant. As the waiter was about to clear the table, my friend asked him to please put the remainder of his steak in a bag so he could take it home to his dog. I happen to know the gentleman doesn't have a dog.

I confess I was embarrassed when he made the request. It seemed a little cheap. Upon leaving the restaurant we ran into friends. I felt very self-conscious, wondering whether or not they noticed my escort was carrying a paper sack.

Please give me your views on this. — A Blusher

Dear Blusher: I applaud your friend for having the courage to take the leftover steak home. The amount of perfectly good food thrown into restaurant garbage pails is sickening — especially now, when one sees so many pathetic pictures of starving people in other parts of the world.

My only criticism of your friend is that he "invented" the dog. I'm sure the waiter couldn't have cared less. In fact, some of the most elegant restaurants in the country encourage "toting." They even supply "People Bags."

Undereater

Dear Ann Landers: I'm the mother of three teenagers who read your column faithfully. You have printed several letters from mothers of overweight daughters. You always advise the mother to "quit nagging... say nothing about what the girl eats or how she looks." You insist it's an emotional problem that should be worked out with a physician and a counselor.

My problem is the opposite. It's a 16-year-old starver. The girl is skinny as a rat — always catching cold — and she looks like a scarecrow.

I've tried everything to get her to eat but she insists she's never hungry and says nobody needs three meals a day. What can a mother do with a child like this? — Beside Myself In N.J.

Dear N.J.: My advice to you is the same as to mothers who have overweight daughters. It's in your letter to me. I hope you find it and take it.

I met Kurt at a party and fell for him immediately. I decided to be open and honest instead of coy and subtle. I invited him to come over for an evening of conversation. He accepted and we had a pleasant time.

Kurt never called me back, but we've bumped into each other several times. He always says, "We'll have to get together soon." But he's never done anything about it. I've sent him a couple of comical notes in the mail. No response. Please, Ann, tell me how can I win him over? He's not just another guy to me. — Serious

Dear S.: You've tried the aggressive approach and it didn't work. Now take the hint and cool it, honey. There's no

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of bidding two clubs your partner has jumped to three clubs over your one spade. What do you do now?

Answer Tomorrow

By Oswald & James Jacoby

The late Willard S. Karn was probably the greatest exponent of lead-directing bidding of all time.

Take today's hand as an example. After North jumped to three spades, Willard decided he was going to play at six. He could have bid six directly. This was back in the early 30s before bidding was at all scientific, but Willard decided that he wanted to insure that West wouldn't open a club. Of course, if West held the ace-king of clubs there would be no way to stop a club lead, but Willard couldn't help that.

Willard could have bid four clubs and then jumped to six spades, but West had played against Willard before that that four-club bid would have been like a red rag to a bull. It would have caused West to go out of his way to lead the suit.

So Willard went the opposite route. He bid diamonds and hearts on the way to the slam. Now our suspicious West wasn't sure of anything except that Willard was ready for a club lead so he opened a diamond.

This gave Willard time to lose the heart finesse but get rid of

Judging Dry Beans

How do you judge dry beans or dry peas? First, buy them in cellophane bags or see-through-type packages. Inspect them for brightness and uniformity of color.

Loss of color usually indicates long storage, lack of freshness, and a product that will take longer to cook, although eating quality is not affected.

Look for uniform size. Mixed sizes will result in uneven cooking since smaller beans cook faster than larger ones.

Cracked seed coats, foreign material, and pinholes caused by insect damage are signs of a low quality product.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You have a knack today for getting others to do what you want

A reader in Orlando wrote that in a Christmas letter from her niece, she casually mentioned that her senior class trip this year would be to Jamaica. "We went to Jamaica on our honeymoon!" said the writer.

"and thought it was a big deal. Not only that, for our senior trip we took a bag lunch on a bus to Starved Rock State Park with an intermediate stop at Indian Burial Mounds and liked to have fainted from the excitement. Have I missed something?"

The only thing I can figure is while you were skipping rocks at the state park, someone invented the round wheel and the square credit card and the world got smaller.

Admittedly it gets tougher and tougher trying to impress today's young travelers.

A few summers ago I rode all over New York City with my sons on a sightseeing bus with instructions, "If you see anything you want to return to, let me know."

As we climbed off the bus, I poised my pencil and said, "Okay, fellows, what'll it be? A tour of the United Nations? A trip to the top of the Empire State building? A cab ride through Central Park?"

One son spoke up, "There was a store near the river that had cut-off jeans for a buck ninety-nine. They're open until 8:30."

On another occasion, I took one of them with me to Philadelphia where I was doing a Mike Douglas show. I showed him the Liberty Bell. Betsy Ross's house, Ben Franklin's grave, and the Wax Museum and let him touch Marty Allen's hair.

He turned to me at the end of the day and said, "Could we go back to the hotel now? I want to play on the elevators."

There isn't a parent alive who will not admit to the frustration of yelling to the kids in the back seat, "By heavens, these are the Egyptian pyramids and if you don't put down Mad magazine and enjoy them I'm going to break every bone in your body."

As an adult, I'd like to believe the "sanitized world" was better, but it wasn't. Today's children are seeing more of the world than they have ever seen before and in spite of their worldliness, there is something to be said for finding joy in a pair of jeans for a buck ninety-nine, playing on the elevators, or chucking over a magazine.

And one day when they are saturated with worldliness, it wouldn't surprise me a bit to hear a senior class president say, "Look, everyone has 'done' Europe, South America, most of us Asia, and some of us Africa. How about a trip to Starved Rock State Park with an intermediate stop at Indian Burial Mounds?"

I work as a baker. You can imagine how surprised I was when the doctor told me that I had "baker's cyst."

He explained it. Yet my family refuses to believe that there is no relationship between the cyst and my occupation.

Mr. G.V., N.Y.

Dear Mr. V.:

It is pure coincidence. This type of cyst, which appears in the back of the knee, was first described by a surgeon named "Baker."

This unusual cyst may be related to injury. Often, it is connected to the knee joint.

It is noncancerous. It can be easily and successfully removed by surgery.

Two of my friends has operations on their prostate. One had only one operation. The other had two operations. I'm curious about this because they had different surgeons.

Mr. W.R., FLA.

Dear Mr. R.:

The choice of surgeons of a one-stage or a two-stage operation is not based on the surgical skill of one surgeon as against another.

There are definite reasons why the decision is made. In most instances today the operation, known as "transurethral resection," is performed safely and almost routinely as a one-step procedure.

However, when a person is in particularly poor health and is considered a greater surgical risk, the prostate operation may be performed in two stages. The first stage consists of making an opening into the bladder through the lower abdominal wall. Then, after a short time, when infection has been controlled and the patient is in better health, the prostate is removed through the same opening.

The ultimate result is the same regardless of the type of operation chosen by the surgeon.

How long after a woman has ceased to menstruate can she become pregnant?

Mrs. M.N.G., Mich.

Dear Mrs. G.:

It is generally accepted that if a woman has had no menstrual cycle for a year after the menopause (change of life) has set in, pregnancy is hardly possible.

Cases have been reported of pregnancies in women who apparently have reached menopause. In these instances, the menstrual cycle has usually been irregular all through their lives.

Each person must be evaluated individually by her own doctor.

Panel To Draft New Smut Law

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The House Judiciary Committee has voted overwhelmingly to draft legislation to regulate pornography, including material provided to consenting adults.

A subcommittee will be appointed this week to begin investigating ways to curb obscenity, especially as it applies to minors and nonconsenting adults, according to Rep. Paul Rosenbaum, D-Battle Creek, the committee's chairman.

The decision follows an opinion from the state Supreme Court which said the state law, which prohibits the distribution of pornographic materials, could only be enforced in cases of juveniles and nonconsenting adults. The court said it was divided as to whether the law could be used in the case of consenting adults.

The ruling left Michigan's law virtually unenforceable in most cases, prosecutors said. A new law will have to contain more specific "tests" of whether something is obscene, in order to conform with guidelines set down by the U.S. Supreme Court.

The question Rosenbaum asked his committee was whether it wanted to draft a bill curbing smut in the area of minors and nonconsenting adults only, or whether to deal with all occurrences of pornography.

The committee voted 9-3 in favor of considering the entire issue, including that of consenting adults who willingly partake of pornography.

Most strongly in favor of the sweeping approach were the members from Detroit, where pornography is a controversial and pressing issue. Opposing it was a mixed bag of strong liberals and an ex-State Police officer who argued any law would be ineffective.

The Detroit group, all Democrats, expressed concern that pornography would get out of hand, and indicated interest in curbing solicitation and pandering, not the existence of stores or movie theaters. Rep. Dennis Hertel suggested zoning as a means of keeping such activity in one designated area.

Rep. George Cushingberry added that state law is needed if communities are to draft their own standards to regulate smut. Rep. E. Dan Stevens, R-Atlanta, said the state is "almost mandated" to act by a U.S. Supreme Court ruling which said successful prosecutions must be based on specific state standards.

But Rep. Perry Bullard, D-Ann Arbor, said "We are not compelled to enact legislation in this area. This is one of the most victimless of victimless crimes."

Rep. Ernest Nash R-Dimondale, a former State Police officer, agreed for different reasons, asserting any law would be ineffective.

"We should not waste time about consulting adults," he said.

Rosenbaum said the subcommittee would be aided by three or four legal counsels. He said the major emphasis would still be on the minor and nonconsenting adult area, but cautioned the committee has "no pre-conceived ideas" about a final bill.

Pact To Free 3 Yanks In Laos

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Three Americans held for a week by Laotian students were expected to be freed today following an agreement to close the U.S. aid mission in Laos by June 30.

However, the students continued to occupy the headquarters compound of the U.S. Agency for International Development in which the Americans have been locked for a week. U.S. Charge d'Affaires Christian A. Chapman called the delay in ending the occupation "outrageous."

Student leaders said they needed more time to set up a coordinating committee and clean up the compound. They said the Americans would be allowed in later in the day.

The three Americans held are two U.S. Marine sergeants, Roger Murphy of Gresham, Ore., and Donald E. Wilburn of Osgood, Ind., and a civilian, William Darden. They were in the compound when the students occupied it last Wednesday, and the Embassy says they have not been molested.

The seven-point agreement, drawn up after almost 10 hours of negotiations, was signed Tuesday by Chapman and Soth Petrasay of the Pathet Lao, the Communist movement that has taken control of the coalition Laotian government.

The pact came after a week of harassment and rising tension as the American colony of 1,000 persons was reduced by two-thirds and police stood by while students and others looted the AID compound and some of the houses in an American housing area on the outskirts of the city.

The U.S. government agreed to turn over "the various affairs and property" of AID to the Laotian government, including "incomplete and new projects along with the budgets for these projects."

The agreement provides for a "protest committee" of Laotian AID employees to remain in the compound to observe the liquidation of the American operation. Americans and other AID employees are not to be threatened.

Chapman refused to sign a provision saying the occupation of the AID compound was "correct and legitimate behavior" and therefore there would be no "reprisals" against the demonstrators.

The agreement marks the end of 20 years of U.S. involvement in Laos, including extensive economic and military aid. But the program this fiscal year was down to $32 million.

A U.S. Embassy spokesman said the remaining American AID employees would be evacuated as quickly as possible to avoid further incidents.

He said some 285 U.S. government officials and dependents are still in Laos.

More than 80 were expected to leave today, most of them for Bangkok. There will only be a few AID employees left by Thursday, and only about 20 dependents, the spokesman said.

Among the dependents who are staying are Chapman's wife, Anita, and their three children.

Elsewhere:

China claimed the Soviet Union has asked the new Communist government in South Vietnam for the use of former U.S. military bases "in compensation for the huge amount of aid" given North Vietnam and the Viet Cong during the war, Japan's Kyodo news service reported from Peking.

The Saigon government's official newspaper, Giai Phong (Liberation), reported that another 400 political prisoners were freed from Con Son prison island, bringing the total released since the Communists took over April 30 to 1,800.

Four ships of the Vishipco shipping line which fled after the surrender of Saigon have returned from Singapore, the government reported.

The regime also announced that 30,000 war refugees have returned from Saigon to their former homes in the Central Highlands, traveling by bus and military and civilian trucks.

The government said 6,000 Vietnamese are working to repair South Vietnam's war-shattered rail system and join it with North Vietnam's. Only short sections of the system are operating.

The government also announced that 163 factories have resumed operations in one district of Saigon, providing employment for nearly 3,000 persons.

State Adopts Emergency Electrical Utilities Plan

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The state Public Service Commission has adopted an emergency plan for the state's two largest electrical utilities in case of a shortage of electricity.

The "final order" calls for daily monitoring of generating capacity, customer demand, fuel reserves and availability of power from other sources for Consumers Power Co. and Detroit Edison Co.

The two utilities generate more than 90 per cent of the electricity used in Michigan.

The procedures are designed to spread the impact of any shortage fairly and with as little impact on society as possible, the PSC said Tuesday in announcing the plan.

The PSC reported peak demand now is below previous estimates because of voluntary energy conservation and reduced commercial and industrial business. Michigan has avoided serious electrical shortages so far.

The commission said the emergency plan will not affect, unless absolutely necessary, essential health and safety services such as hospitals, prisons, fire stations, water and sewage plants and radio and television stations.

It will be nondiscriminatory and require all segments of society to bear an equal share of the burden.

The plan could go into effect for a short time or a longer period. In the first case, the shortage will be met with reductions in demand by the utilities themselves; interruption of service at noncritical points; voltage reductions of up to six per cent; voluntary load reductions by commercial and industrial customers; and a rotating system of interrupting selected circuits.

A long-term shortage would be met by reduction in demand by the utilities; voluntary energy conservation of at least 10 per cent; a rotating system of interrupting selected circuits; and curtailing demand by large industrial users by 10 per cent.

The PSC said such shortages might be caused by a shortage or interruption of fuel; unavailability of stand-by power from electrical networks; equipment failure; unexpected peak demands; or severe weather, or any combination.

NEW ADDITION: Art enthusiasts throng the new addition to New York's Metropolitan Museum of Art on opening day Tuesday, peering, among other things, at Gauguin's painting of Tahitian women bathing, right. 'Red' Right Turns Okayed By House

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan motorists could turn right after stopping at red lights under a House-passed measure aimed at speeding traffic flow in the state.

The bill, approved 56-2 Tuesday and sent to the Senate, would permit the right turns on red unless posted signs specifically prohibit it.

The signs would cost the city of Detroit $100,000-$300,000 to post dangerous intersections, said state Rep. Frank Wierzbicki, D-Detroit, who voted against the measure.

Statistics from 17 states where right turns at red lights are permitted show the bill would not be as costly as its critics say, according to state Rep. Howard Wolpe, D-Kalamazoo.

"The cost of the bill for posting signs would be more like $80,000 from what we've been able to determine," said Wolpe.

The state Highways and Transportation Department opposes the bill because it would cost money to post signs on state roads and because the agency said it might be held liable in accidents.

Several law enforcement groups supported the measure, however, including the State Police and the Michigan Sheriff's Association.

Wolpe produced a letter from the city traffic engineer in Los Angeles saying the right turn on a red light after stopping has not caused accidents.

The highway department said it would support the bill if it was changed to permit right turns at red lights only where posted signs specifically allow the turns.

The city of Flint permits right turns on red where signs specifically allow it.

The highway department said it could be sued if a driver is involved in an accident at an intersection where turns are not prohibited in accordance with the bill.

"The occurrence of an accident could be construed as evidence the intersection is not safe for right turns on red lights and the state was remiss in failing to prohibit such turns," said a highway department attorney.

The bill would require motorists turning right at red lights after stopping to yield to pedestrians and other traffic using the intersection.

Wolpe is from California, which has allowed right turns at red lights for years.

PILOTS CAN'T DECIDE

NEW YORK (AP) — Airline pilots do not have the authority to determine what cargo is hazardous and how much of it they will carry, a U.S. Court of Appeals has ruled.

Money Pinch Hits Detroit Art Institute

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Institute of Arts, the nation's largest municipally owned museum, plans to close its doors to the public next month for the first time in its 90-year history.

The shutdown will last at least four weeks, starting June 16, and will be followed by a curtailed schedule when its doors reopen, according to museum director Dr. Frederick Cummings.

Cummings said present plans call for a reopening on a five-day week basis July 16. The institute has been operating on a six-day schedule.

Plagued by financial troubles affecting all city departments, the institute will take a 37 per cent cut in money budgeted to it by the city.

A spokesman said 47 guards will be laid off, leaving just 10 to provide security for the huge museum and its multi-million-dollar art collection near Detroit's downtown area. In addition, 10 building attendants and laborers will be dismissed.

"We hope to be able to rehire some of these people under a federal assistance program," the spokesman said.

Ironically, the cutback in the institute's operation comes less than a month after the museum presented one of its most highly acclaimed exhibitions, "French Painting From 1774 to 1830: Age of Revolution."

The show attracted 162,164 viewers, the second largest attendance at the museum since it first opened its doors in 1885. The largest turnout was 194,998 for a Rembrandt exhibition five years ago.

When the doors are reopened in July, only 25 per cent of the institute's 101 galleries will be open on any one day.

"Things weren't this bad even during the Depression," William Bostick, the museum secretary, said recently.

Cummings said the institute's auditorium and lecture hall will remain open when the rest of the museum is closed because contractual obligations must be met, and student classes in crafts and art history already have been announced.

"When the city is in financial trouble, we get cut just like any other department," Bostick said.

William Beckham, Detroit's deputy mayor, said although the institute is an important part of the city, police service and sanitation have a higher priority.

Although the bulk of the museum's $5 million operating fund last year came from Detroit, revenue also comes from the 18,000-member Founders Society, the Michigan Council of the Arts, federal funds, miscellaneous grants and at-the-door donations.

In addition, the Detroit City Theater Association contributed $415,000.

Administrative Assistant Quits At Watervliet

WATERVLLET — David L. Jones, an administrative assistant with the Watervliet school district for the past year, is resigning from the job effective at the end of this school year to take a similar position with the South Haven school district.

Jones' resignation was accepted by the Watervliet school board during a special meeting last night.

In his new job, Jones will replace Edwin F. Grunst who announced his retirement as administrative assistant to the South Haven school superintendent earlier this year.

Jones, 33, who previously was with the Watervliet system from 1967 through 1972, was hired last year to replace former Administrative Assistant Doyle Anderson. He was paid $17,000.

In other areas, the board agreed to have its Lansing law firm represent the school district during a hearing called by the state civil rights commission in connection with the complaint filed by Mrs. Jay (Kathleen) Johnson, a middle school counselor, against the school system after the board set a mandatory date for her maternity leave earlier this year. Mrs. Johnson has contended that paid sick leave should be allowed to cover the time. Supt. Samuel Gravit said that a federal court had upheld a lower court ruling that accrued sick leave days could be used for maternity purposes although a teachers' contract specifies otherwise. He said the court's decision was based on a sex discrimination clause of the 1964 civil rights act.

No hearing date had been set by the state commission, he added.

The board agreed to seek bids for lighting fixtures for 16 elementary classrooms. Gravit estimated the cost at $8,000.

Hartford Council Tentatively OKs Rock Concert

HARTFORD — Hartford city council last night gave tentative approval to James Watkins of Coloma to hold a rock concert at the Hartford Motor Speedway, Saturday, July 5.

Approval was made tentative pending acquisition of statements from the Van Buren county health department, giving its go ahead for the concert and showing proof of insurance from Watkins.

Watkins told the council that perhaps 10,000 people could be expected to attend and the concert would feature at least one nationally known rock band group. Watkins said that he would hire additional police to insure crowd control and a physician and ambulance would be on hand.

In other areas, the council accepted a letter of resignation from Councilman David Sinclair, effective immediately. Sinclair, a Whirlpool corporation supervisor, has moved to Ohio.

The council tabled action on finding a replacement for Sinclair, until its next regular meeting.

It was announced that at 7:30 p.m. tonight a meeting will be held at the city hall to discuss with G.L. Wightman and Associates, St. Joseph engineers, the possibility of having a joint sewer project with the townships of Hartford, Lawrence, and Bangor, plus Lawrence village and Hartford city.

Tod Elting of Tod Elting Construction company, corner of Red Arrow highway and Marion avenue, requested permission to construct a retaining wall to keep gravel and cement out of the city sewer along Marion avenue. The council said it would refer the matter to the city's board of review and recommend that his property taxes not be increased, if he builds the retaining wall on his own, since it would benefit the city.

The council gave George Malaski, owner and operator of Hartford Motor Speedway, permission to set up another day for race practice, in case it rains on both Tuesday and Wednesday, current practice days. The council said Malaski could obtain the permission by contacting any councilman.

The council also approved purchase of a used desk from Western Michigan university for $75 and two reconditioned electric typewriters from Parrett Business Machines.

New Radiation Rules Planned

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Environmental Protection Agency is proposing tougher new radiation pollution standards for use of uranium in nuclear power generation.

EPA Administrator Russell E. Train said Friday that the proposed standards, scheduled to take effect in late 1977, would prevent 1,000 cases of cancer or severe genetic damage over the next quarter-century, although he conceded that figure might be "conjectural."

Van Buren Rollover Injures Five People

GLENDAL — Five people from the Kalamazoo area were injured yesterday morning when the car in which they were riding rolled over on M-43 about three miles east of here.

The driver of the car, identified by Van Buren sheriff's deputies as Deborah Lee Hostettler, 24, and a passenger, Todd Spring, 4, both of Kalamazoo, were both listed in fair condition at Borgess hospital, Kalamazoo. Hospital authorities said Mrs. Hostettler suffered three broken vertebrae in her back, and that the child sustained a broken leg.

Sandra Spring, 24, Kalamazoo, and Linda McCullough, 24, and her son, Michael, 4, Portage, were treated for cuts and bruises and released at Lake View Community hospital, Paw Paw, according to hospital authorities.

Deputies said the Hostettler vehicle was westbound on M-43 and had just passed another car when Mrs. Hostettler apparently lost control, leaving the road and rolling the vehicle over. Deputies said they are investigating the possibility of a defect in the car's front end.

No tickets were issued.

River Valley Will Try 'A La Carte' Lunches

THREE OAKS — An a-la-carte lunch program for the River Valley high school here was approved by the district's school board last night for the remaining two weeks of the current school year.

The two-week trial was designed to see if the program could be adopted next year.

Under the program, students may order a hot sandwich instead of the regular hot lunch in the morning and then pick up their order during the lunch period. Price of the sandwiches was set at 50 cents. Additional items will be extra, Farrell said.

In other areas, the board set three meetings for next week at the system's schools to review the 3.824 property tax millage proposal on the June 9 school election ballot. The meetings will all be held at 8 p.m. and were scheduled for Tuesday, June 3, at Chikaming school; Wednesday, June 4, at Three Oak school; and Thursday, June 5, at New Troy school.

In a related matter, the board agreed to meet with a group of school district residents who launched a petition drive to place the millage proposal on the ballot for a second time at 8 tonight in the high school. The proposal was defeated by voters on March 26.

The board set Monday, June 2, at 8 p.m., as a special meeting to act on master contracts with school bus drivers and teachers. Supt. Joseph Cairni said that tentative agreements had been reached with unions representing both groups. Details were withheld pending final action, however.

In connection with drivers, the board voted to dismiss Paul Kugler, 38, a 15-year veteran bus driver. According to Edward Farrell Jr., assistant superintendent, the action was requested on grounds that Kugler took an unauthorized leave last week and on one day declined to handle his regular bus run.

The board instructed Joseph Hood, its representative to the Berrien Intermediate school district board, to vote for reelection of Louis Desenberg and Adrian Vanginhoven to the intermediate board. The election meeting is to be held June 2.

Board President Weldon Burden said the board hoped to name a new superintendent by June 25 to replace Cairni. Cairni

Gas Station Hit For Fourth Time

DOWAGIAC — For the fourth time in six months, the gas station at Lou Ann's Country Mart, 301 Spruce street, Dowagiac, was the scene of a reported armed robbery last night.

An undetermined amount of cash was reported taken by a lone robber about 8:40 p.m., according to Cass county sheriff's deputies.

Attendant James Barrett, 16, 206 West Telegraph street, Dowagiac, told deputies a man wielding a knife forced him to open the cash register and fled on foot. Deputies said Barrett sought his own treatment for a minor cut his throat.

Three previous robberies have netted more than $1,000 from the station.

Chrysler Salaries Restored

DETROIT (AP) — Top executives of Chrysler Corp., who took 50 per cent pay cuts last December, have had their full salaries restored because the company's financial fortunes have improved.

After slashing their pay, the 40 officers took progressively smaller cuts during the next three months until their full salaries were restored April 1, a company spokesman said Tuesday. The salary cuts averaged 25 per cent over the four-month period.

Children Unprotected In Cars

WASHINGTON (AP) — A survey of seat belt usage has found that 93 per cent of all children riding in cars are unprotected against crashes. Another 1 per cent were improperly restrained by seat belts or infant holders, the survey by the Insurance Institute for Highway Safety said. The unrestrained children were sitting or standing, sitting on someone else's lap unrestrained or in infant holders that were not restrained. The survey involved observation of more than 5,000 cars carrying nearly 9,000 children under 10 years of age at amusement parks and shopping centers in Maryland, Massachusetts and Virginia.

Closed Meetings Banned

LINCOLN PARK, Mich. (AP) — A circuit court judge has banned the Lincoln Park City Council from holding closed meetings to which the public is not admitted. Acting on a suit brought by the Lincoln Park Taxpayers and Voters Civic Association, Wayne County Circuit Judge John Kirwan issued a temporary restraining order against the council. In the suit, the taxpayers group alleged that during the meetings held during the hour before regularly scheduled council sessions, residents were not allowed to enter. During a pre-trial hearing Tuesday, Councilman Richard Mitchell testified that all decisions concerning the city were made in the private meetings. He also admitted that the council recently spent over $21,000 to purchase water meters without accepting bids.

Welfare Errors Are Found

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The state Department of Social Services said Tuesday 20 per cent of the welfare cases checked so far show errors. About 14,000 cases surveyed were overpaid, underpaid or had to be cancelled because of ineligibility, according to Joseph LaRose, social services deputy director in charge of the 60-day special probe. More than one-third of the state's 194,000 Aid to Dependent Children cases have been checked since the investigation began April 1 in an effort to retain federal dollars by cutting errors, LaRose said. About 12 per cent of the cases were cancelled, LaRose said.

Milliken Signs Amendment

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Workers injured on the job can now consult their own doctors after being treated by their employer's physician for 10 days. An amendment to the Workmen's Compensation Act signed by Gov. William Milliken on Tuesday shortens the time required before workers can go to their own doctors from the previous 60 days. "Sometimes disputes and lawsuits arose over different opinions from the physician selected by the employer and the worker's own doctor," said Ernest Fackler, director of the state Bureau of Workmen's Compensation. "We hope the new law will decrease those disputes and at the same time keep the employer responsible for providing immediate treatment," Fackler said.

Court Delays Bus Purchase

CINCINNATI (AP) — A federal appeals court has stayed an order that the State of Michigan buy 150 buses to implement a desegregation plan for Detroit. The U.S. 6th Circuit Court of Appeals granted the temporary delay on Tuesday, pending a further appeals court decision. A hearing on the state's application for a stay has been set for June 11. State Attorney General Frank Kelley had asked the Court of Appeals to delay an earlier order issued by U.S. District Judge Robert DeMascio in Detroit. DeMascio had given state officials until the end of the day today to purchase or lease 150 buses to be used in the eventual Detroit integration plan.

Bilingual Courses Planned

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Nearly 40 per cent of Michigan's 592 school districts plan to establish bilingual education programs this fall, a preliminary list released by the state Board of Education shows. The state has identified 231 districts that have 20 or more students with a native language other than English and who have limited English speaking ability, said John Porter, state superintendent of public instruction. Under a law passed last year, such districts must initiate programs this fall to instruct such students in their native tongue.

Senate Approves 'Weakened' Bill touch their bill," he said.

"This bill will be attacked and re-attacked by well-meaning pinheads in the House," Cooper said. "They will strip the flesh off."

"If it comes back here from the House drastically changed — to allow the attorney general to make laws — I will do everything I can to kill it," he said. "I hope we hang tough."

The chamber did vote to adopt amendments forbidding any businessman from taking advantage of a consumer's inability to understand the language of an agreement, and outlaw "gross discrepancies" between the oral promises of the seller and the written agreement.

Generally, the bill lists and outlaws certain unfair trade practices, such as misrepresenting goods, false advertising, or making false statements about price reductions. Under the measure, the attorney general or local prosecutor could seek injunctions against such practices. The attorney general or private citizens could sue for damages, including class action lawsuits.

Beyond restricting the attorney general's power, the committee amendments reduced penalties for violating the law or an injunction; removed harassment or intimidation in collecting a debt from the list of outlawed practices; exempted certain businesses regulated by other laws; and made it tougher to obtain an injunction.

Experts expect the House to beef up the bill significantly or pass its own version, leading to an eventual conference committee to iron out the differences.

Consumers Asks Record Rate Hike

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Consumers Power Co. today asked to increase its electric rates by at least a record-breaking $118 million a year.

The proposed rate boost would add $2.18 to the electric bill of residential customers who use 500 kilowatt hours of electricity monthly.

The increase would add $4.83 a month, or about 10.1 per cent, to the bill of the customers who used 1,500 kilowatts monthly to heat a home electrically, the Jackson-based utility said. The proposed increase would raise total revenues from residential customers by 11.6 per cent, secondary commercial and industrial customers by 30.4 per cent and primary commercial and industrial customers by 15.3 per cent, the utility said.

Consumers Power also asked the state Public Service Commission for an immediate interim electric rate hike of $73.5 million annually. If granted, the interim increase would be deducted from any final rate increase authorized by the PSC, the utility said.

"It is by far the largest amount ever asked by Consumers Power in a single rate case," said A.H. Aymond, board chairman of Consumers.

The boost is needed to bring revenues in line with increased costs, said the company.

Ford Embarks On Europe Tour

tariff on imported petroleum products, such as gasoline and heating oil, also effective on June 1. The effects of this increase will be felt most in Hawaii and on the East Coast which are heavily dependent on oil refined abroad.

—Send to Congress next month a plan for removing federal controls from domestic oil prices, probably over the next 18 to 24 months. Such a move, which could be blocked by Congress, would raise consumer prices for petroleum products by at least six cents a gallon.

In addition, Ford administration officials say they expect the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries to raise the cost of their petroleum products by 10 to 15 per cent this autumn. Such a boost would add another 1 to 1½ cents to a gallon of gasoline.

Ford said he had delayed the tariff increases in March and April after congressional leaders had "promised to come up with a congressional energy program better than mine" but they didn't.

Declaring that Congress had "done nothing" on energy legislation, Ford picked up a calendar and ripped off pages for the months of February, March, April and May to dramatize his point that Congress had four months to develop an alternative program but failed.

"The Congress cannot drift, dawdle and debate forever with America's future," Ford said.

The President said "our American economy runs on energy. No energy, no jobs... The sudden fourfold increase in foreign oil prices and the 1973 embargo helped throw us into this recession."

"We are now on our way out of the recession. Another oil embargo could throw us back. We cannot continue to depend on the price and supply whims of others," he said.

Almost without exception, congressional response to Ford's action split along party lines. Democrats said the higher petroleum prices would set off a new round of inflation and further dampen the economy, while Republicans said Congress' failure to act left Ford no choice.

"I for one won't buy this nonsense," said Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., chairman of the Senate Interior Committee and a key influence in energy matters.

Jackson said the President's program, aimed at forcing energy conservation by driving up fuel prices, would cost the average American family $800 a year, with the burden falling most heavily on the poor and middle-income groups.

The Democrats "haven't done anything to discourage the importation of foreign oil," said Sen. Carl T. Curtis, ranking Republican on the Senate Finance Committee. "They do not seem to recognize the danger to our economy in permitting domestic production to go down and increasing our dependence on foreign sources."

Rep. Al Ullman, D-Ore., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, was more optimistic than most of his colleagues that Congress can pass an energy program of its own.

Ullman predicted ultimate approval by Congress and the President of a conservation package by Ways and Means that would raise the tax on gasoline used for pleasure driving by as much as 23 cents a gallon and impose a stiff tax on gas-guzzling cars.

But freshman Democrats in the House and key Democrats in the Senate are sharply opposed to that concept, while House leaders are just as skeptical of a Senate-passed bill imposing mandatory fuel conservation standards on the states.

Despite lopsided majorities in both the House and Senate, it appears doubtful that Congress can impose any energy program that does not have Ford's approval. Democratic leaders would be hard pressed to put together the two-thirds majorities needed to override a veto.

Michigan Tax Base In Question

Washtenaw County Board of Supervisors, said state equalized valuation "is the only base for the spread of property taxes in Michigan," Kane said.

About $2.7 billion is collected annually in Michigan property taxes, Kane said.

Further delay of a resolution to the problem could cause a problem for cities, which ordinarily levy their taxes in July or August, Kane said. Counties and townships normally don't levy their taxes until Dec. 1 "so they shouldn't be in much trouble right away," he said.

Property tax increases were in store for 23 of Michigan's counties, including Montmorency, according to a preliminary report released two weeks ago.

The suit also contends that since the plaintiffs are not eligible to go to the state Tax Tribunal for relief, they have been denied due process of law. The plaintiffs are required to seek all other remedies before appealing to the tax tribunal and they have not yet taken their case to the local tax appeal board.

Judge Swallow granted a temporary injunction April 16, conducted a hearing May 8 and made the injunction permanent Monday.

Four Vying For Bridgman Board Posts

BRIDGMAN — Bridgman school board incumbents Lewis J. Matthias and Dr. Joseph J. Rambo face challenges from Leonard A. Stelter and Darwin Lee Krieger in the annual school elections June 9. The two candidates with the highest vote totals will win four-year terms on the board. The board elections are the only issues on the Bridgman school ballot.

Stelter, 54, one of two challengers, served for 16 years on the school board until his defeat in 1973. He is a farmer and he and his wife Gertrude have five children and live at 3708 Lake street. Krieger, 39, 4341-Lake street, is manager of Zodiac industries, Stevensville. He and his wife Peggy have two children.

Matthias, 42, is seeking a second, four-year term on the board. He is an administrative supervisor at the Cook nuclear plant. He and his wife Janice have two children and live at Woodland Shores. Rambo is a medical doctor and is seeking a third, four-year term on the school board. He is 43 and he and his wife Evelyn have five children. The family lives at route 1, box 111A, Baldwin road.

MATTAWAN VOTING ON TWO MILLS

MATTAWAN — Mattawan voters will decide whether to approve an additional two-mill property tax levy for a period of one year for school operations in the district's annual election June 9. Voters will also pick from among four candidates for a pair of four-year terms on the school board. Incumbents Stephen Garfield and Harry Stickney are not seeking re-election. If approved, the levy would raise about $155,000, according to Supt. John A. Gummell, of which $80,000 would go to replace the heating plant at the middle school and the remainder to meet increased operating costs. The district's total operating levy would be 23.5 mills if the two mill addition is approved, Gummell said. Vying for the two school board seats are: Howard Farris, 42, CR-652, Mattawan, a psychology professor at Western Michigan university. He and his wife Barbara have two children. Howard Overbeck, 30, 530 Kingdon, Mattawan, who is employed as an architectural draftsman by R.C. Byce and Associates, Kalamazoo. He and his wife Sharon have two children. James Woodward, 38, route 1, box 153A, Mattawan, a customer service representative for Michigan Power company. He and his wife Marianne have two children. Roger Van, 43, 9168 West S avenue, Schoolcraft, who is employed at Upjohn company, Kalamazoo. He and his wife Louise have two children.

Two Posts On Dowagiac School Ballot

DOWAGIAC — Three newcomers are seeking election to the two four-year positions on the Dowagiac Union school board available during the school district's annual election June 9. Present board members Richard Judd Jr., vice president, and Joey Andrews Jr., treasurer, are not running for re-election. There will be no other issues on the ballot.

Seeking election are Donald D. Lyons, 310 East Prairie Road street, Dewain, Townsend, route 1, Cherry Grove road; and Duane L. Hall, route 7, Magician lake. Lyons, 29, is the president of Lyons Industries, Inc., Dowagiac. He and his wife, Joan, have two children. Townsend, 54, is a farmer and was formerly employed by the Rudy Manufacturing company in Dowagiac as an industrial engineer. He and his wife, Leona, are the parents of six children. An instructor at Southwestern Michigan college in industrial technology, Hall, 37, and his wife, Patsy, have three children.

Six Area Students Initiated

EAST LANSING — Six students from southwestern Michigan have been initiated into Phi Kappa Phi, academic honorary, at Michigan State university, here. Area students initiated were Linda J. Kramer, St. Joseph; Barbara J. Kramer, Stevensville; James E. King, Three Oaks; Allan D. Schmidt, Niles; Sandra Gould, Dowagiac; and Patricia Huberty, Bloomington.

Berrien Jobless Roll Climbs To Highest Rate On Record

Unemployment in Berrien county rose to 17.2 per cent in April with a total of 1,000 more county residents classified as unemployed.

The April rate is 1.3 per cent higher than March's 15.9 per cent, which was the highest it has been in Berrien county since records were kept in 1959.

Officials at the St. Joseph office of the Michigan Employment Securities Commission (MESC), however, attributed the 1.3 per cent increase to a sudden influx of applicants for a new federal extension of unemployment benefits.

tension was added to the original 26-week coverage.

The 17.2 per cent unemployment rate for April represents 13,300 unemployed people in Berrien out of a work force of 77,200. March's rate of 15.9 per cent had 12,300 people unemployed from a labor force of 77,000.

In April a year ago, the unemployment rate was 7.3 per cent with 5,000 unemployed.

RENEWABLE RESOURCE
NEW YORK — Though wood is still the principal homebuilding material and is in wide use for other items, the U.S. has about 70 per cent of the forests that were here when the Pilgrims landed — and is increasing its overall timber supply yearly, according to the American Forest Institute.

Isabell Nutt, manager-designate of the St. Joseph MESC office, said the increase was due largely to the new 13-week extension of unemployment benefits.

The new extension prolongs unemployment benefits for 52 weeks. Last year, a 13-week extension was added to the original 26-week coverage.

ALGERIA COOL TO U.S. PLAN

PARIS (AP) — Algeria, the leader of the Third World's drive to use the oil countries' bargaining power to aid producers of other raw materials, gave a cold reception today to the American offer Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger hopes will revive the international oil conference. Kissinger on Tuesday proposed the creation of international commissions on raw materials and special problems of developing countries that would operate separately from the oil conference. But Algeria indicated it would not agree to this divorcement of oil from other raw materials with less bargaining power. The official Algerian news agency said the proposal "proves that the United States is still trying to maneuver to dominate not only the countries of the Third World but the Western industrialized as well and is preparing an American solution taking account of only American interests."

Taylor Says Police Beat Him

HOUSTON (AP) — Confessions to the murders of four women came only after beatings administered by Houston police, former Michigan resident Gary Addison Taylor told a judge Tuesday.

Taylor, found innocent by reason of insanity for shooting at nine women and girls in Royal Oak, Mich., in the late 1950s, said officers "beat and stomped me and made me sign a confession."

"They told me they'd kill me if I didn't sign a confession," Taylor told Justice of the Peace Laurence Wayne. Taylor also said he would take a lie detector test to verify his statements.

Police say the remains of two of the victims Taylor has admitted killing were found last week around the foundation of his former home in Onsted, Mich. They say he confessed verbally to those deaths, but has signed written statements admitting taking part in the deaths of a Houston waitress, Susan Kay Jackson, 22, and a young Seattle housewife, Vonnice Smith, 19. Their bodies also were unearthed recently.

Taylor is being held on charges of rape and sexual assault.

He said he was beaten May 20 after police took him from his cell to a botanical gardens, and again Monday when he was transferred to another jail. Police denied both allegations and said jail records prove Taylor was not taken from his cell as he claimed on May 20.

Justice of the Peace Wayne appointed noted defense attorney Stuart Kinard as defense attorney for Taylor. Kinard said he is reviewing the case and has not talked with Taylor in depth.

Taylor is a former inmate of a Michigan mental hospital who was inadvertently given leave and did not return for outpatient treatment in 1973.

Miss Jackson's body was discovered in northwest Harris County May 18. The bodies of the two Toledo women were found buried in shallow graves near an Onsted, Mich., last Thursday and Mrs. Smith's corpse was found Saturday. Police said they were alerted to the location of the bodies by Taylor's estranged wife, now living in San Diego. She said Taylor, when intoxicated, had told her of the buried bodies but later passed his statements off as a joke.

She said she informed police only after she heard Taylor was in custody because she feared for her life.

Taylor was arrested May 20 near his apartment here, more than a month after police claimed he raped a 16-year-old girl.

Selection Of Jury Underway

DETROIT (AP) — Jury selection got under way Tuesday in the narcotics conspiracy trial involving nine suspended Detroit policemen.

Close to 650 prospective jurors gathered in Detroit Recorder's Court to fill out questionnaires to determine whether they could serve. Sixty will return on Monday for further questioning.

In addition to the nine Detroit police officers, seven civilians also have been charged in the case.

The 16 were indicted by a Wayne County Citizen's grand jury in May, 1973. The grand jury charged most of the illegal activity took place in the 10th precinct on the city's west side, where all the accused officers were assigned.

Buchanan Can Cut Levy, Says Mayor

BUCHANAN — A Buchanan city official last night said that the city tax levy could be reduced by 2½ mills and still produce enough local tax funds for the city's proposed 1975-76 budget.

Mayor Joseph C. Bachman told the city commission that the proposed budget of $890,224 requires about $642,500 in local tax funds - with the rest coming from other sources - and that amount could be nearly raised with a 12.5-mill city property tax levy.

The city has been levying 15 mills in property tax for the past several years to finance the city budget.

The reduction in the levy is possible because of a $13 million increase in the city's tax base over the last year.

The budget is to be discussed in a public hearing set for June 9 by the city commission last night.

The proposed budget of $890,224 is about $1,436 less than the amended 1974-75 budget of $881,670, but some $140,000 higher than the $740,220 originally approved by the council in May, 1974. Last year, the city tax base was $37,682,316.

A 15-mill city property tax levy then raised about $750,000. The new tax base figure is $50,791,172, which, when multiplied by the proposed 12.5-mill levy, would produce about $634,887.

The increased tax base figures mean that while the city tax levy would be lower, city residents will be paying more in taxes because their property values have climbed in the past year.

In other areas, the commission adopted an amendment to the zoning ordinance rezoning lots on the east side of Red Bud trail North, between Fulton and Richards streets, from residential to commercial use.

The commission gave officials of the First Missionary Baptist church, 925 Chippewa, permission to burn a pile of tree branches at the rear of the church, and authorized repair work on city water wells one and three.

The commission also authorized City Manager Robert Faulhaber to purchase, at a cost of $1,375, a radar unit for the police department, from CBI company of Minter, Colo.

It is the second radar set for the department. The first set cost about $900 more, commission officials said.

Modernization At South Haven Is Year Early

By TOM RENNER
South Haven Correspondent

SOUTH HAVEN — A major modernization program in South Haven's family public housing project will begin this year instead of 1976, Executive Director Dennis DeVinney reported to housing commission members last night.

The housing commission had originally thought work would not be done this year. DeVinney was recently informed by the federal government that funds appropriated for the project must be expended this year.

The commission has proposed $180,969 in improvements to the 50 home project including a major upgrading of a drainage system for the area. Other projects will include repaving of parking pads, installation of new all-weather doors on each home and construction of utility sheds for the storage purposes.

The commission authorized retaining Alpha Engineering of South Haven to provide engineering services for the project. Consulting engineer Jay Wood said final plans should be completed in a month and, subject to HUD approval, work could start in August or September.

In other action, the commission accepted the low $1,680 bid of Crowe, Chizek and company of Benton Harbor to conduct the audit.

Commission approved a new tenant handbook for residents in the senior citizens apartment building.

Commissioner Gilbert Jilison was elected vice chairman to fill the term of Matthew Georg who did not seek reappointment to the housing commission when his term expired. Jilison will serve as vice chairman until October when the annual election of officers occurs.

PASS THE BUCK: Rep. Ken Hechler, D-W.Va., tells a Capitol Hill news conference Tuesday that apathy from both White House and Congress has marked his efforts to abolish Federal Metal and Non-Metallic Mine Safety Board of Review, which has not heard a single case in its four years of existence. "Everybody agrees it ought to be abolished. But everybody passes the buck when it comes right down to talking the action necessary to abolish the board," he said. (AP Wirephoto)

Gobles Wants To Join Kazoo College District

GOBLES — The Gobles school board last night voted to ask that the school district be put in the Kalamazoo Valley Community college district if the state is going to decide what local school districts are going to be in what community college districts.

The board vote came after Gobles Supt. Guy Leversee said the state department of education is considering the move.

Presently, local school districts can vote on what community college district they want to join.

In other areas, elementary Principal Randall D. Boss said in a recent reading test given to 410 elementary pupils, 62 per cent of the pupils scored above the average grade level.

He said test results seem to indicate that the Right to Read program, in its second year at the school, has produced some favorable results.

Gobles is one of three school districts in Van Buren county to be using the national reading education program.

Elton Ransler, vice president of the Gobles Education association, said that a "Meet the Candidate" night will be held at 7:30 p.m., June 3, at the high school library.

He said a question-and-answer format would be followed and that the 11 school board candidates were expected to attend.

Emission Tests Will Be Free

WATERVLIET — Motorists traveling on I-94 near here Sunday, June 1, may stop for a free auto exhaust emissions test.

The free tests will be conducted by volunteers from the Michigan chapter of the Telephone Pioneers of America, a non-profit employee community service organization, and are aimed at promoting greater fuel economy and cleaner air.

The telephone industry volunteers will run a free test site from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the westbound I-94 rest stop east of Watervliet, according to Les Fineout ecology chairman of the Michigan chapter.

"We'll be performing quickie emissions tests to let motorists know if their cars are wasting valuable fuel and polluting the air," Fineout said. The test process is relatively simple and takes about three minutes.

Pressure's On To Run

WAVERLY, Minn. (AP) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey says he's getting "an ever-increasing amount of pressure" to seek the Democratic presidential nomination. But he says his supporters will have to "wait and see" if he decides to run.

Humphrey, who celebrated his 64th birthday Tuesday, said he's made a decision not to seek the nomination again. "The only question is whether I'll reassess it or not," he said.

"All kinds of people around the country talk to me about running," said the former vice president. "They said run! As a matter of fact, there's an awful lot of this kind of talk and it's kind of difficult to resist, to be honest about it."

GRAND JUNCTION — Two polling places, one at Grand Junction elementary and one at Bloomingdale elementary will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. June 9 for the annual Bloomingdale school district election.

Supt. William Nolan told the school board meeting here last night that residents of Lee, Casco and Columbia townships will vote at the Grand Junction elementary and residents of Cheshire and Waverly townships and Bloomingdale will vote at Bloomingdale elementary.

At stake in the election is a $4 million bond issue, which if passed would finance construction of a new high school, renovation of the present high school for use by middle school students, and renovation of elementary schools at Bloomingdale and Pullman.

Voters will also be asked to approve an 18.5-mill property tax, operating levy, including 16.5 mills of renewal and elect a new board member from a field of six candidates.

In other areas, the board approved sale of one of the district's old school buses to Carl Whamhoff of Grand Junction for $1,500.

James Scholley, Bloomingdale elementary school principal, said reading program test results showed elementary students showed significant gains.

The school board's next regular meeting has been changed from June 9 to June 10 and will be at Bloomingdale high school.

Soviets Get Limited Bases

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin recently failed to win naval and air base rights in Libya, U.S. intelligence sources report. But these sources say Kosygin came away from a May 14 visit with a Libyan promise to allow the Soviet fleet limited use of some port facilities. The Russians, who have been supplying Libya with increasing amounts of advanced military aircraft and tanks, apparently want base rights there as a hedge in case Soviet relations with Egypt should deteriorate again. Even if the Soviet navy should continue to have access to the Egyptian port of Alexandria, a base in Libya would give Russia's Mediterranean fleet a supply, repair and refueling site about 1,000 miles farther west.

Sentences Stiff For Jailed Trio

Three Berrien county jail inmates who sexually assaulted another inmate in March were sentenced yesterday in Berrien circuit court to the stiffest sentence the judge could give them.

Sentenced by Judge Julian E. Hughes for gross indecency were Larry Donnell Hulse, 21, of 106 Quince drive, Benton township; David Earl Dunlap, 19, of 457 Pavone street, Benton Harbor; and Norfleat Gonzalez Powers, 22, of 1107 North Ford street, Niles.

Dunlap and Powers each got 10 months to 3 years in prison, and Hulse was sentenced to 3 to 5 years in prison, but Hughes ordered that sentence is to run consecutively after another 5 to 10-year sentence Hulse got earlier this month for breaking and entering.

The trio on March 9 sexually assaulted another younger inmate at the jail.

Two of the defendants protested the sentence, saying the victim had given his consent. "I've heard that before and I'm tired of it," Hughes said sharply.

Calling it a "dastardly and heinous" crime, the judge said that too often if a victim doesn't give his consent "he ends up with a battered face."

Hughes told Dunlap he went easy on him when he sentenced him last July to one year in the county jail for attempted carrying a concealed weapon. Powers in January was placed on two years probation, with the first five months in jail, by Hughes for carrying a concealed weapon in a motor vehicle.

"I should have sent you to prison (before)," Hughes told him, and added: "My only regret is that I can't resurrect the other sentence and give you consecutive sentences."

In other sentences by Hughes: Joseph Lee Wingo, 27, of 904 Broadway, Niles, was sentenced to one year in the county jail, with credit for 198 days already served, for aggravated assault. Hughes noted that Wingo was sentenced to six months in jail on April 14 for possession of marijuana.

Wingo, originally charged with second degree murder, was convicted by jury of aggravated assault against Patricia Williams. The assault occurred on June 19, 1973, at 904 Broadway, Niles, and she died almost one month later.

Richard D. Manns, 23, of 345 Midway, Benton Harbor, was placed on three years probation and assessed $300 fine and costs for larceny over $100. He was accused of stealing two money bags containing more than $100 Oct. 8, 1972, from a truck loading area at Whirlpool plant 6. The money belonged to Servomation Vending and Food Service.

Ricky Melvin Miller, 20, of Elkhart, and Oliver Robert Simpson, 19, of 2009 Niles-Buchanan road, Niles, were both placed on two years probation for larceny from a building. Miller was also ordered to pay fine and costs of $300, and ordered to spend the last 90 days in jail, but Hughes said that can be waived if he does an "excellent" job on probation.

The two were accused of stealing two jackets from a mobile home at 2615 US-31, Niles, on Feb. 25.

Terry Taylor, 24, of 3312 Eaman road, Hagar township, got two years probation, and $200 fine and costs, for attempted larceny in a building. He was accused of attempting to steal office machinery Feb. 18 from St. Joseph Office Supply Co., at 215 State street, St. Joseph.

In arraignments before Judge Chester J. Byrns:

Dennis D. Morgan, 17, of 3609 Meadowbrook road, Benton township, pleaded guilty to assault with a deadly weapon. He was accused of assaulting Richard Allen Smith with a 16 gauge shotgun May 2 at Box 477 Meadowbrook.

Frederick Reed, 21, of 822 Lake boulevard, St. Joseph, pleaded guilty to issuing a no account check for $35 May 4 at Gillespie's drug store on State street, St. Joseph.

James D. Bates, 18, of Warren, Mich., pleaded guilty to receiving and concealing stolen property valued at more than $100 — a stolen station wagon — May 11 on I-94 in Lincoln township.

Carl R. Malino, 29, of Miami, Fla., pleaded innocent to a charge of possession of heroin April 25 on I-94 in Benton township.

Carl E. Costello, 31, of New Carlisle, Ind., pleaded innocent to a charge of possession of mathaqualone (a non-barbiturate type of sleeping pill) May 3 on North Elm street in Three Oaks.

'W.C. FIELDS' Hollywood has chosen Rod Steiger (above) for title role in "W.C. Fields and Me" — a film about the comedian and his mistress. Steiger says Fields "has always fascinated me." Valerie Perrine plays the mistress, Carlotta Monti, who co-wrote the book on which film is based. (AP Wirephoto)

Five Ask District Court Hearings

Five people, four of them charged with carrying concealed pistols over the Memorial Day weekend, demanded preliminary examinations on felony charges Monday in Berrien Fifth District court.

Also in court yesterday one person was bound over to circuit court, 22 were sentenced and charges against another were dismissed.

Demanding examinations were:

Michael R. Cross, 24, of 3787 Edwards, Sodus, charged with carrying a concealed pistol May 27 in Benton township. He posted $1,000 bond and was freed.

Thomas J. Johnson, 37, of Evanston, Ill., on a charge of carrying a concealed pistol in Chikaming township May 25. He posted $1,500 bail.

Cecil K. Holliday, 28, of Alton, Ill., charged on May 25 with carrying a concealed pistol in Lake township. He was released on $1,500 bond.

Willie Bland, 24, of 1113 Agard avenue, Benton Harbor, charged with larceny of $350 from James Blue in the 200 block of Burton street, Benton Harbor. Arrested by officers of the Berrien Metro Crime unit. Bland posted $3,500 bond.

Bobby J. Williams, 25, of 2451 Lawrence, Benton township, charged with carrying a concealed pistol in Benton township May 23. He was jailed in lieu of $2,500 bond. He was also sentenced to 10 days in jail and fine and costs of $60, or 30 days in jail total, for driving while license suspended.

Bound over to circuit court was Annie M. Taylor, 36, of 311 Fulton, Buchanan, who waived examination on a charge of carrying a concealed pistol May 17 in Benton township. She remained free on $2,000 bail.

Sentenced for the following violations were:

Use of marijuana — John Bacha, 20, and Gerald R. Rutz, 21, both of Hammond, Ind.,

finest and costs of $50 and $500, respectively; Kenneth R. Lot, 20, of 105 1/2 St. Joseph road, Berrien Springs, $125 or 15 days in jail; J. Brian Nemeth and John R. Welcome, both 18, both of South Bend, $50 each; George A. Daugirdas, 18, of Chicago, $50; Roderic D. Hoe and William G. Herrmann, both 19 and from Forest Park, Ill., $100 and three months probation.

Assault and battery — Kenneth E. Goodloe, 18, of 318 North Winans, Benton Harbor, $40, against Valerie Rand; Roger D. Page, 19, of 396 Vineyard, Benton Harbor, $60.

Driving while license suspended — Bobby R. Dunn, 22, of 119 1/2 Fourth street, Berrien Springs, 90 days in jail for second offense; Frank J. Genovese, 43, of 1281 Warren, Benton Harbor, three days in jail and $90 and, for second offense impaired driving, $225 and 18 months probation.

Driving while intoxicated — Henry R. Rogge, 37, of Royal Oak, $150 or 30 days in jail; Homer Wood, 31, of La Porte, Ind., $150 or 30 days in jail.

Impaired driving — Howard E. Christians, 38, of 2616 Lake Shore Drive, St. Joseph, $101; Hugh H. Hall, 33, of 1788 Trafalgar drive, St. Joseph township, $101.

Others sentenced included: Ernest McLeod, 38, of Sodus, $98 for shooting a pheasant out of season May 26 in Sodus township.

Bobby J. Mann, 18, of Red Arrow highway, Watervliet, and Allan G. Martin, 19, of 136 Morris street, Coloma, each $101 or 30 days in jail for entering Hagar School Number 6, Riverside, without permission on May 24.

Rosie A. Holmes, 17, of 681 Superior, Benton Harbor, $120 for petty larceny of clothes May 25 at Benton Harbor K-Mart.

Loche Millner Jr., 43, of 1189 Union, Benton Harbor, $60, three months probation and restitution for a damaged door for malicious destruction to an auto May 11 in Benton Harbor.

Sanford A. Spears, 17, of 2159 Red Arrow highway, Benton Harbor, $31 for disorderly person, indecent conduct, May 26 in Benton township.

Dismissed yesterday was a charge of uttering and publishing a false check which had been made against Clyde O. Calhoun, 66, of Riverside.

Portugal Reds To Demonstrate

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — The Portuguese Communist party called a street march today in support of the nation's military rulers.

Party officials said they organized the event "in support of the Armed Forces Movement (AFM), in the defense of liberties and for the construction of a democratic Portugal."

Congress Votes

BY CONGRESSIONAL QUARTERLY

WASHINGTON — Votes of area members of Congress on key roll calls for the week ending May 23 were:

SENATE
Aid to Turkey. The Senate voted 41-40 to permit the President to resume military aid to Turkey provided certain conditions were met. Arms aid had been suspended by Congress Feb. 5, 1975 because Turkey used American-supplied equipment in its invasion of Cyprus in July 1974 in violation of U.S. laws.

Supporters of the bill argued the weapons cutoff hampered progress toward a negotiated settlement between Turkey and Greece, angered a valued ally, and threatened the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. Opponents of the bill contended that resuming arms aid would sanction Turkey's violation of U.S. law, would jeopardize relations with Greece and would remove any incentive for Turkey to modify its position in the Cyprus dispute.

Voting to resume military aid: Griffin (R), Hart (D).

HOUSE
Authorization Ceiling. By a 183-216 vote, the House rejected a move to cut $1.89-billion from the $5.5-billion military procurement bill approved by the House Armed Services Committee.

Supporters of the $1.89-billion ceiling reduction contended that the committee bill would give the Defense Department an excessive increase — 27 percent — over last year's appropriation of new weapons projects. They also said the reduction would force belt-tightening by the Pentagon that is needed to eliminate waste and mismanagement.

Opponents argued that in the aftermath of Vietnam the United States must demonstrate strength throughout the world, and "meat-ax" cuts in the defense budget would lead to misinterpretations of the nation's political and defense objectives. They also pointed out that an across-the-board cut in the defense budget would be an appropriation of congressional responsibility to oversee Pentagon spending on a program-by-program basis.

Voting for $1.89-billion arms ceiling reduction: Blanchard (D), Conyers (D), Hutchinson (R), Vander Jagt (R), O'Neill (Majority Leader).

Voting against $1.89-billion arms ceiling reduction: Brown (R), Rhodes (Minority Leader).

Troop Cut. By a 95-311 vote the House rejected an amendment to the military procurement bill to reduce the 416,500 U.S. overseas troop strength by 70,000 as of Sept. 30, 1976.

Supporters of the troop cut maintained that U.S. overseas forces were representative of the nation's overcommitment throughout the world. They pointed out that a 70,000 reduction could be accomplished without removing one soldier from Europe and that a cutback would still leave sizeable troop strength in South Korea, Japan, the Philippines and Taiwan.

Opponents argued that because of international developments, including the fall of South Vietnam, a withdrawal could signal U.S. adversaries that the nation was pulling back from its international commitments. They also pointed out that in recent years overseas forces have been phased down considerably, a trend they said will continue should the international climate permit.

Voting for 70,000 troop cut: Conyers (D).

Voting against 70,000 troop cut: Blanchard (D), Brown (R), Hutchinson (R), Vander Jagt (R), O'Neill (Majority Leader), Rhodes (Minority Leader).

Strip Mining. By a 208-195 vote the House agreed to postpone an attempt to override President Ford's veto of a strip mining bill. The bill would set minimum standards for the regulation of surface mining of coal and provide for the reclamation of abandoned strip mined lands.

Both supporters and opponents of the bill agreed that if the vote to override had been taken as scheduled May 21 the House would not have been able to override. A vote was rescheduled for June 10. Supporters of the proposed regulation of strip mining contended that it was a workable and balanced compromise between the arguments of environmentalists who called for a ban on strip mining altogether and those of the coal industry against regulation. They dismissed as speculation estimates of the reduction in coal production which the law might produce.

Opponents of the bill were divided into two groups. One agreed with the Ford administration, arguing that the bill was over-restrictive to the point that it would hamper coal production as well as drive up the cost of fuel and electricity to the consumer. The other group criticized the bill as too weak, failing to set sufficiently strict environmental standards.

Leave Indochina Alone, Papers Urge Big Powers

LONDON (AP) — Two leading Philippine newspapers called on the United States, the Soviet Union and China to leave Southeast Asia alone after the fall of the U.S.-backed regimes in South Vietnam and Cambodia.

The Manila Times Journal urged the Association of Southeast Asian Nations (ASEAN) to unite in discouraging the big powers from trying to incorporate the area into their zones of influence.

The Philippine Daily Express declared: "What remains to be done now is for the superpowers to acknowledge, not only in words, and respect this ASEAN desire. The impression has lasted too long that the superpowers are playing one Asian country against another."

Foxx's Divorce Case Hits Snag

LAS VEGAS, Nev. — Comedian Rodd Foxx's divorce case — which has been pending in District Court here for more than a year — will have to be heard in Los Angeles, a judge has ruled.

District Judge Keith Hayes said Tuesday he no longer has jurisdiction because Foxx now claims residency in California.

In Malaysia, the Straits Times compared Washington's "grudging" note of regret after the United States used Thai bases in the Mayaguez rescue with "the spontaneous expression by Phnom Penh of willingness to normalize relations with Bangkok."

In Czechoslovakia, the Slovak Communist party newspaper

Pravda said "a high wave of anti-Americanism" in Thailand "shows that if the U.S. wanted to make up for its lost prestige by (the Mayaguez) action, it reached just the opposite."

The London Daily Telegraph said Syria's agreement to extend the Golan Heights ceasefire for another six months was a "welcome surprise" that raises hopes for a new peace bid by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger.

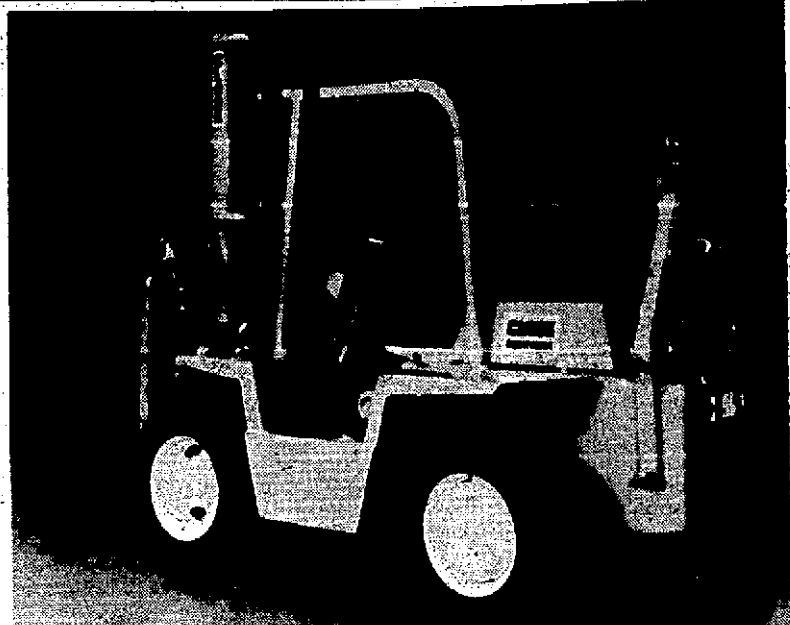

The Israeli daily Davar expressed "genuine concern" at the U.S. decision to sell anti-aircraft missiles to Jordan. It feared the move may encourage extremism in Jordan.

The Observer, a British Sunday paper, looked ahead to this week's North Atlantic Treaty Organization summit conference in Brussels and said "it would be a pity if President Ford were left with the impression that Indochina, or the fear of American withdrawal from Europe, were the real questions troubling the Western alliance."

"The real problems are elsewhere, particularly in the Middle East and the eastern Mediterranean," said The Observer. "The United States is still too apt, despite its detente policy, to see the Arab-Israeli and Cyprus disputes in conventional Cold War terms. And the Europeans are more worried by possible U.S. overreaction in the Middle East than by an American unwillingness to intervene."

ROUGH-TERRAIN LIFT TRUCK: Clark Equipment company's industrial truck division, Battle Creek, Mich., has added an advanced-design 4,000 pound rated capacity rough-terrain lift truck to its line of pneumatic-tired fork trucks. Clark IT40 is designed for over-the-road towing. A V-shaped towing bar folds down and out from back frame so truck can be towed by another vehicle between jobs, eliminating the time and expense of lowboy transport.

Collector Plans To Sell 4,500 Bottles Valued At $775,000

By M.A. BARTOLOMEW
Associated Press Writer
NEW LONDON, Conn. (AP) — Charles Gardner is selling his bottles — all 4,500 of them valued at $775,000. Gardner has been collecting bottles for 46 years. He's 84 now and says it's time to auction them off.

"I'm married and getting on. I don't want to leave my wife all those bottles to dispose of," Gardner said in an interview. His collection includes early American liquor flasks, perfume bottles, patent medicine bottles and pottery bottles, several of them worth more than $10,000 each.

He recently packed up all his bottles and sent them to Bolton, Mass., where they will be offered during two three-day auctions in September and November. "It's the biggest deal in the United States that ever happened to bottles," said Gardner. Although he has received bids for the entire collection, Gardner said he preferred the auction. "Anyone who asked me for an individual bottle will get a fair chance at it," he said.

Voters Nix Fluoride

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Voters in Los Angeles spurned fluoridation of their water system, while in Santa Barbara, anti-oil forces narrowly lost their first environmental battle since the disastrous 1969 spill.

Los Angeles voted Tuesday to keep its water fluoride-free. But the City Council must still formally repeal a fluoridation ordinance it passed last September. It was scheduled to take effect today.

With only a few absentee ballots to be counted, Santa Barbara residents voted 35,043 to 34,280 to pass Prop. A, which would permit Exxon Co. to build a $30 million refinery to service a new offshore drilling rig.

Congressman Raps Home Buying Plan

U.S. Rep. Edward Hutchinson (R-St. Joseph) thinks some adverse results are surfacing from new tax credit legislation for certain categories of new home buyers.

Hutchinson said: "Home builders...are now expressing concern that the most immediate impact of the bill will be to discourage new housing starts until next year, when their new homes will be free of competition from rebate-eligible homes."

"And, many of the homes which have gone unsold for the longest periods of time, and are presumably most in need of the rebate, do not qualify for it because their builders believe that inflation and carrying charges justify a higher price than the lowest price at which it has ever been offered," as provided in the Tax Reduction Act.

The act's tax credit provision offers a 5 per cent tax credit, up to $2,000 to people buying new homes before the end of this year. Construction must have been started before March 13 of this year.

Hutchinson reports the obvious and worthy intent of the plan may not achieve desired results, because of builders waiting until next year to construct houses free of the rebate plan, and also because the market for other houses and condominiums which don't qualify will be hurt.

Hutchinson also criticized another piece of legislation to assist home buyers, based on average costs of housing in given areas.

This is the Emergency Middle Income Housing Act of 1975, passed by both houses of Congress.

Hutchinson said while assistance is geared to the average cost of housing in given areas, such costs are higher in metropolitan areas such as Washington, D.C., than in areas such as St. Joseph, Sturgis or Adrian, all in Hutchinson's Fourth District.

Hutchinson added:

"In fact, in many urban areas, such as Washington, the cost of new housing is so expensive that it is affordable only by the more affluent. The Housing Act thus subsidizes these persons at the expense of the middle class taxpayer who bears the major burden for any federal subsidy."

"Persons living in multiple-unit dwellings, and those who can afford only to purchase older housing, a problem especially prevalent with older Americans, will be given no assistance by the bill.

"But this is not all. Since many legislators often have an extremely difficult time seeing beyond the short run, and rarely stop to consider the indirect impact of their actions, they probably have never paused to realize that the $1.5 to $2 billion in additional debt which their programs create is going to have to be financed by government borrowing. And this borrowing is going to dry up private borrowing — the main source of mortgage loans and capital to be used in investing in new construction."

Ypsilanti Man Held In Murders

YPSILANTI, Mich. (AP) — A 24-year-old Ypsilanti man, Bobby Campbell, has been arraigned in Washtenaw District Court on two counts of murder stemming from the Sunday shooting deaths of an Ann Arbor couple.

Campbell is being held without bond for the slayings of Larry Little, 23, and his 21-year-old wife, Pamela.

No motive was given for the killings, although investigators said they are checking into the possibility that the slayings were drug related.

Police said they arrested Campbell after neighbors reported hearing shots and gave officers a description of a car seen speeding from the Little home.

Commuter Blimp? Don't Laugh... It Could Happen

MIAMI (AP) — Lester Freeman is looking forward to the day he will catch the 7:15 commuter blimp to work.

"Thump Blimp" reads the chalkboard above his desk, and the executive vice president of the Greater Miami Chamber of Commerce intends to keep the faith.

"Nothing's impossible," Freeman said. "I'm just not going to sit here and say blimps won't work. Go tell that to the guys who walked on the moon."

Freeman said Miami already has applied for funds in the event the federal Urban Mass Transportation Administration authorizes a pilot program to test commuter blimps' feasibility.

"NASA is spending $250,000 for feasibility studies on lighter-than-air vehicles," Freeman said. "If pilot programs or demonstration projects follow, Miami wants a piece of the action."

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration, working with the Goodyear Aerospace Corp., is to release results of its initial study next month.

While NASA spokesmen are hesitant to comment before that release, R.T. Madden, a Goodyear executive, indicated that the study could be favorable.

"The potential of buoyant vehicles for mass transit in urban areas is one of many missions we are investigating in our NASA feasibility study," Madden said. "Initial results indicate this application may offer advantages not currently available with other transport systems."

Freeman said the dirigibles could prove an economic and ecological boom.

"We could reduce air and noise pollution in our cities, reduce land surface traffic and drastically cut the costs of mass transit systems."

"In Miami, we're paying $5 million for right-of-way for each mile of urban expressway. When we are thinking about sinking $1.5 billion into a program, I think all the choices — alternative and supplemental — have to be studied," he said.

Freeman admitted that gaining public acceptance of blimps would be a major drawback.

COMING FOR CONCERT SATURDAY: Appleton (Wis.) MacDowell male chorus, widely known and one of largest male vocal units in midwest, will appear in concert at 8 p.m. Saturday at Lakeshore high school. It will be under direction of Edwin Zordel, resident of St. Joseph and Baroda areas as a young man. St.

"For some reason, people just want to laugh about it," he said. "But those same people aren't laughing when they have to put up with the traffic, the pollution and the cost of gasoline. Who knows what will be feasible 10 years from now?"

Freeman also conceded that there are some real imprac-ticalities to commuting by blimp.

"There are some aerodynamic problems, they're just too cumbersome right now. And we don't know if a blimp could be manufactured to carry enough persons to make it practical," Freeman said.

"But it's a hell of a dream, isn't it?"

John's Lutheran church of Baroda will sponsor appearance. Tickets available at door, $2 for adults and $1 for students. Zordel, who once directed choir at Baroda church, has directed big Wisconsin municipal singing group last 21 years. Religious numbers are a mainstay of chorus program, interspersed with show tunes, contemporary selections and a touch of comedy.

Miss Marty, 23, was honored for her work as an admissions officer at Rhode Island College.

However, she lost her job a few days before she was selected and remains unemployed.

Record-Shattering Rotary Meet Best Ever

JOHN VANDEEN BEEDE
Staff Sports Writer

A fantastic field of young men and women put on the greatest track and field meet in southwestern Michigan history today night.

The 18th annual Rotary Meet at Dickinson Stadium's all-weather facility produced:

- Four all-time area performances, including the best ever relay of 3:23.6 by St. Joseph.
- Five new Rotary Meet records for the boys. (All girls sports are records in their first appearance in the meet in a full date of events.)
- Eleven new season bests, including six for the boys.

— Forty eight changes in this spring's Herald-Palladium track honor rolls.

"I would have to say this is the best ever," declared St. Joseph coach Ron Waldvogel. "We were great and the other teams were super."

"This is a nice way to cap off the season. The state meet might be anti-climatic."

Joining St. Joe's mile relay team members as an individual standout in the meet which brought together the best from southwestern Michigan in a meet blessed with ideal weather conditions was Benton Harbor's Carmelia Hull, the only athlete with four first places.

The Bear mile relay team was comprised of Dick Goodman, Marty Kirk, Henry Follman and Dave Karsten (40.1 anchor leg). They broke the area's all-time congratulating his third place.

Follman also won the 800 run in a meet record of 1:54.4... a time which also earned him the third spot on the all-time honor roll.

In fact, the first four finishers Tuesday night smashed the old Rotary record of 1:50.1 posted by St. Joe's Dan Brege in 1970.

Lake Michigan Catholic's Larry Wallace was clocked in 1:57.6, St. Joe's Goodman in 1:57.7 and Watervliet's Chuck Brock in 1:58.4.

St. Joe's Karsten was also No. 1 in the 440 dash Tuesday with a season-best 50.2.

Other all-time performances were by St. Joe pole vaulter Brian Nisbet and Bridgman high jumper Mike Schaller.

Nisbet went 14 feet to become only the second 14-foot vaulter in area history. His effort also broke the Rotary record of 13 feet, 7 inches set by St. Joe's Lyle Ray in 1971.

Schaller "flopped" over the high jump bar at 6 feet, 7 1/4 inches — a height which is the fourth best all-time and breaks the Rotary mark of 6 feet, 3 1/4 inches established by Brandywine's Dennis Wilson last spring. Wilson also broke his own record Tuesday while finishing second at 6 feet, 5 1/2 inches.

The other Rotary record was set by Lakeshore's Tom Jager in the 120 high hurdles at 14.0

seconds. The Lancer sophomore also won the 100.

The old high hurdles record of 15.6 was posted by Buchanan's Gary Groat in 1963 and matched by Benton Harbor's Ernie Patton in 1968. Benton Harbor's Craig Dudley in 1973 and Watervliet's Mort Leith in 1974. That 15.0 clocking was also matched Tuesday night by St. Joseph's Mike Ryan and Dowagiac's Dennis Bacon, who later won the 220 dash.

Adding season bests for the boys Tuesday were Watervliet shot putter Jim McVay with the first 50-foot heave of the season and the Berrien Springs 440 relay team of Bill Miller, Mark Wymer, Bob White and Reggie

Parent Stanley Cup's MVP Flyers NHL Champs

BUFFALO (AP) — While the Philadelphia Flyers called goalie Bernie Parent the difference in their second consecutive Stanley Cup triumph, the greying 30-year-old netminder called a year of experience the factor that brought him and the Flyers their well-deserved victory.

"Last year, we were in the clouds when we won," said Parent, who made 32 saves Tuesday night in Philadelphia's 2-0 decision over the Buffalo Sabres — a triumph that kept the cherished silver bowl in the Flyers' possession and earned him his second straight Conn Smythe award as the playoffs' Most Valuable Player. "This year, it was different. We knew what we were doing. We proved to ourselves that it was no fluke that we are the champs."

The major reason was Parent, whose exceptional ability stymied the Sabres time and again, as it has so many teams in the past. "Tonight, through the playoffs and the whole season, Bernie has proved he's the best goalie in the world," marvelled Philadelphia Coach Fred Shero. "He has no nerves. He was super tonight, sure. But I imagine he has played better."

Hard work was the key to the victory, as it has been for Philadelphia since the National Hockey League season began many long months ago. Bob Kelly's goal at 11 seconds of the third period was a perfect example.

The puck was sent behind the Buffalo net, to the right of Sabres netminder Roger Crozier. Kelly poked it loose from teammate Bobby Clarke and Buffalo defenseman Jerry Korab, then scooted to the side of the net for the short backhand that was all the support Parent needed.

Tournament Of Champions Back On Golfing Schedule

ATLANTA (AP) — Pro golf's Tournament of Champions is back in business.

The controversial cancellation of the Tournament of Champions, for 23 years one of the game's most prestigious events, was rescinded Tuesday and the tournament was put back on the schedule for 1976.

The announcement was made by pro golf Commissioner Deane Beman at a closed-door meeting of the touring players at the Atlanta Country Club Tuesday night.

"The board has reconsidered the matter today and asked me to inform you that the board has rescinded its previous decision and will reschedule the Tournament of Champions in 1976," Beman said in a prepared statement read to the players.

A meeting of the tour's Policy Board, the policy-making group for the conduct of the tour, was held behind closed doors a few hours prior to Beman's statement to the players.

No date was announced for the tournament, which traditionally was played two weeks following the Masters. And there is a possibility that the Tournament of Champions' unique format — they took only the winners of regular tour titles from the previous 12 months — may be altered.

"The board's action was based on the expressed willingness of the sponsor to adjust the format of the Tournament of Champions to accommodate the development of the World Series of Golf," Beman told the players.

Beman and the president of the PGA announced earlier in the year that the World Series of Golf, previously a four-man, 36-hole event would, in 1976, be changed to a 24-to-36 man field playing over 72 holes.

It is scheduled to be played in the fall and "serve as a true World Series of Golf," Beman said.

"Golf," he had said earlier, "is the only major sport that does not have a major, season-ending event, a climax to the season. It is something we need. The World Series of Golf can fill that need."

"We played a great team," said Parent. "The Sabres gave us plenty of problems. They're such an explosive team."

That, however, is forgotten for now. "Now that our season is over, there's no sense looking back," said Floyd Smith, coach of a Buffalo team that made the playoff finals in only its fifth season. "We went out tonight and gave our best. It just wasn't good enough."

Tuesday night was a fitting ending. It also was a fitting time for Bill Clement's first goal of the eight-week long playoffs. With 2:47 remaining in the game, Clement took a pass from Orest Kindrochuk and sent a 15-foot shot past Crozier to insure the victory and the parade that was scheduled to start in Philadelphia this morning.

"As hard as we worked, we just couldn't come back tonight," said Smith of his Sabres. "But give the Flyers credit. They were the champions and they still are the champions."

"That's right," said Flyers defenseman Andre Dupont, sipping from his own champagne bottle. "We're here for real now. The Philadelphia Flyers. And nobody's going to say any different."

The departure of the sure-shooting Dionne may be especially irritating to the Wings. Despite previous complaints about Detroit, Dionne claimed last season he had changed his attitude and would remain with the struggling team.

Detroit vice president John Ziegler dismissed the attorney's claims, saying no demands have been made because no one has asked what the Wings would want in return for Dionne. 23

Lawrence 'Steals' Win, Tightens SAC Race

BY PAUL MORGAN
Staff Sports Writer

Thanks to some daring baserunning by Lawrence and some opportune hitting by Decatur, the Southwestern Athletic Conference baseball race is tighter than the Dan Ryan freeway at rush hour.

Lawrence downed front-running Bloomingdale 12-5 and Decatur smashed winless Lawton 18-1 last night to set up a do-or-die situation at Decatur's field this afternoon as the Tigers take on the Raiders. In other SAC action yesterday, Gobles downed Marcellus, 3-2.

Bloomingdale and Decatur are now tied for the loop lead with 9-2 marks and Lawrence is just a half-game back at 8-2.

The Tigers sealed their win over the Cardinals with an eight-run barrage in the third inning that featured three double steals by the Tigers. "We really haven't had very much success with the double steal this season," grinned Dave Baker, Lawrence coach, after the contest.

With the Tigers up 7-1 and men on first and third, Baker had his man on first, Chris Carpp, head for second, hoping to draw a throw from Bloomingdale's catcher. Sure enough, Jeff Melvin tried to gun down Carpp at second, but the Card second sacker muffed the throw allowing Mark Mills to score.

China Ecstatic Over 'Show' By American Pole Vaulter

PEKING (AP)—The Chinese appear ready to adopt freewheeling uninhibited Terry Porter, and Terry is almost in the mood to accept.

"These people are beautiful," the lanky slow-talking Texan said today. "If I didn't have some problems back home to clear up, I think I would like to stay here a while."

"They have been great to me and I've tried to pay them back by giving them a show. You know, they may never see another American for years."

Dentzman Leads Bangor To Win

BANGOR—John Dentzman collected two doubles and three RBIs while leading Bangor to a 9-4 KVA victory over Delton here Tuesday.

Keith Wiles and Jerry Borden added two singles apiece and Gary Garrett was the winning pitcher in relief for the Vikings, now 6-6 in the conference and 10-7 overall.

The 23-year-old pole vaulter from Wharton Tex., whose 17 feet, 3/4 inch leap constituted one of America's 18 victories in 17 track and field events against the People's Republic of China Tuesday, has been the people's choice from Canton to Shanghai to Peking.

The Chinese generally show only a detached interest in track and field, which is just beginning to emerge as an important sport here. But they go wildly ecstatic when Terry picks up a pole.

The Chinese people love acrobatics and they love the art in jumping over a high bar with a long stick. It is the one event which stirs their passions.

And they have found a special friend in Porter, who plays a continuing game of charades with them from the jumping pits.

Once when Terry's rival and teammate Roland Carter of Houston took a belly flop, Porter turned to the crowd and made a circular gesture with his hands to indicate that Carter must be crazy.

The crowd didn't recognize the gesture but laughed heartily.

When Dick Buerkle was running the 10,000 meters, his shaved head glistening, Porter ran to the edge of the track and pointed to Buerkle's bald dome, and then gave his long locks a swish. The crowd giggled and applauded.

Porter's hair reaches to his shoulders, longer than that of any girl on the team. His mustache and handsome sharp features give him the appearance of a TV deputy sheriff.

Porter has become the maverick of the American team, which ends its Chinese trip today and heads home Friday via Tokyo and Seattle.

In Canton he showed up for the opening day parade of athletes in a red rain suit — a sharp contrast to his teammates who were in red white and blue uniforms. "It would have been better if he had got wet," said Coach Bob Giegengack. "But there are chipmunks everywhere. I've got some in my fireplace back home."

When the American team went to the Great Wall earlier this week, Porter missed the bus so he took a taxi for the 43 mile mountain-climbing trip. The state paid the bill.

"Shucks," said Terry, "I just forgot my coat and went back for it. I didn't do anything wrong."

Braves' Niekro Checks Cubs

From ASSOCIATED PRESS
On page 19 in the Philadelphia Phillies' media guide you'll find a section entitled "Baseball's Best Infield."

Well, "Baseball's Best Infield" looked more like a typographical error Tuesday night ... and that was about the only type of error the Phillies didn't commit in losing to the San Francisco Giants 1-0 in 10 innings.

To quote the Phils' press guide: "In 1974, the Phillies' infield of Mike Schmidt, Larry Bowa, Dave Cash and Willie Montanez all finished second in balloting for the National League Gold Glove awards. The Phillies' foursome hit for the highest average, .290."

But third baseman Schmidt took this year's .190 average to the bench Tuesday night, ending the league's longest consecutive game string at 231. Shortstop Bowa was on the disabled list with a broken thumb, suffered a night earlier.

Cash was in his accustomed spot at second base, but he went hitless in four trips and committed two of Philadelphia's five errors. And Montanez was at first base, all right, but he was wearing a San Francisco uniform, having been traded to the Giants three weeks ago for center fielder Garry Maddox. And Maddox was alongside Bowa on the disabled list with a cracked kneecap.

The Phillies' fifth error was the one that cost them the ballgame. San Francisco's Von Joshua singled with one out in the 10th off reliever Gene Garber and continued to third when the ball got away from center fielder Jerry Martin, just up from the minors to take Maddox' spot on the roster. Joshua scored on a double by pinch hitter Glenn Adams and that was all John Montefusco needed as he pitched a five-hit shutout.

Elsewhere in the NL, the Los Angeles Dodgers trounced the New York Mets 10-4, the Atlanta Braves downed the Chicago Cubs 7-2, the Pittsburgh Pirates edged the Houston Astros 6-5 and the St. Louis Cardinals whipped the San Diego Padres 7-1. Cincinnati and Montreal were not scheduled.

from Ken Forsch into left field to win the game and lift the Pirates into second place in the NL East.

Jimmy Wynn knocked in three runs with his ninth and 10th homers — he tied Cincinnati's Johnny Bench for the NL lead — and Dave Lopes walloped a three-run shot to back Burt Hooton's six-hit pitching. Steve Garvey started the Dodger scoring with a two-run double off Harry Parker in the first inning and Wynn homered in the third with a man on and again in the sixth. Ed Kranepool homered for the Mets.

Marty Perez' two-run, two-out single off Rick Reuschel following an intentional walk to Ralph Garr snapped a 1-1 tie in the seventh inning. The Braves added four runs in the eighth, two on a single by Garr. Phil Niekro checked the Cubs on seven hits, including a home run by Reuschel.

Lou Brock hit for the cycle and Bob Forsch pitched a five-hitter. The 35-year-old Brock, who was struggling with a .253 average May 8, boosted his mark to .342 with his home run, triple, double and single. He led off the first inning with a single, slugged a bases-empty homer into the center-field seats in the third, a run-scoring triple in the fifth and a double in the eighth.

'Good' After Brutal Indy Crash

Sneva Eyes Racing Return

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — As driver Tom Sneva sits in his hospital bed recovering from a crash in Sunday's Indianapolis 500, he worries not about who or what caused the wreck, just about how soon he will be racing again.

"I could be racing again by the Milwaukee 150 on June 8," Sneva said Tuesday. "But I'll definitely be back by the time practice starts June 18 for the Pocono 500."

Sneva, listed in serious condition as a precaution only for two days while he was in intensive care with mostly minor burns, might be well enough to go home in seven to 10 days, doctors say. After moving to a private room Tuesday, his condition was immediately changed to good.

Sneva slept well Sunday night, and felt fit enough Monday to watch his colleagues salute him during the televised 500 Victory Dinner.

Each wished him a speedy recovery and a quick return to racing.

"Some people may wonder why I don't give up driving after a crash like that," said Sneva, a former schoolteacher from Spokane, Wash. "When you make your decision to become a race driver, you also accept the risks."

"If I'm smart, I'll learn from my experience and be a better driver," Sneva, considered one of the top new talents in racing, doesn't remember too much of his "experience." His wife Sharon, watching from the second turn, would have seen the whole episode, except for an alert friend who steered her quickly out of view.

"I remember going through the south short chute alongside Eldon Rasmussen, but when we went into the second turn, he dropped back and I thought I had passed him," Sneva said.

"But then I noticed his left front wheel coming in on me. When it touched the side of my car, it started me flipping."

"I remember getting upside down and looking over the end of the car and seeing the race track upside down and the cars going past me. It was all like in a dream, in slow motion. But that's all I remember until I got to the track hospital."

Sneva's car landed on its tail, bounced end first into the fence where the gear box and rear wheels caught and tore off.

About that time, the fuel and oil coming out of the ruptured car continued flipping on past the burning fuel.

On its last flip, the car landed on its right front wheel, which held up under the impact, and springboarded the wreck back over rightside up. If the wheel had folded, Sneva would have likely remained upside down and gone purwheeling across the track, as Salt Walther did in 1973.

When the remains of the car came to a stop, a half-conscious Sneva instinctively unbuckled his safety belts, flipped up his helmet visor and lifted himself from his seat. About that time, fireman Larry Conder rushed up and prried Sneva from the smoldering wreck.

Lake Michigan Catholic tuned up for District baseball competition this weekend by blanking Michigan Lutheran last night, 6-0.

The Lakers scored once in the fourth inning off Bruce Morris as Gary Bartalone singled and went to third when the Titans couldn't handle a grounder hit by Gary Meek. Bartalone came home when Lutheran tried to pick Meek off first and the ball got by the first baseman.

Catholic backed its starter, Richard Maxwell, with five more runs in the sixth on five hits and two Lutheran errors.

Meek, George Welch, John Reinhardt and Tom Driscoll had the RBIs.

Maxwell allowed just three hits as the Lakers raised their season mark to 10-5.

State Panel Hears Berrien Arguments Against Tax Boost

By SCOTT WILLIAMSON Staff Writer

Representatives from Berrien county government yesterday appeared before the State Tax Commission (STC) in Lansing to fight a $33 million increase tacked onto Berrien's equalized valuation; but there was no indication when the STC would or could rule on the appeal.

The STC is currently prohibited from equalizing the valuation of any county in Michigan because of a permanent injunction issued against it by a circuit court judge in Montmorency county.

The injunction, issued Monday by Judge Joseph P. Swallow of Montmorency county, in northeastern Michigan, restrains the STC from equalizing the valuation of any Michigan county. The injunction stemmed from a suit which, according to a spokesman at the STC, "basically seeks to stop the equalization process."

Since the STC can't equalize Michigan counties until the injunction is lifted, it has filed appeals with the state appeals and supreme courts in an attempt to have the injunction overruled, according to the spokesman.

The deadline for the tax commission to establish the equalized valuation for all Michigan counties was supposed to have been today.

Berrien county was one of 24 counties which filed appeals with the STC challenging the equalized valuation which the tax commission had tentatively set for them.

During Berrien's 20-minute presentation, Francis Rawlinson, county tax equalization director, said a $590,407 increase in real property values which the STC tacked onto the valuation that the county submitted was not justified by facts and figures which he had gathered.

But the main thrust of Berrien's appeal was presented by County Commissioner Carl Gnodtke, of Sawyer, who protested not only the $590,407 increase but a $38 million inflation increase and a $203,636 personal property increase added onto Berrien's valuation by the STC.

The county board in April established the county's equalized valuation at $1,062,877,871. That figure includes both real and personal property valuations. Included in that figure was a 4 1/2 per cent cutback for existing real property, cutting the real property valuation to $1,018,212,762. The county left the personal property figure of $294,665,109, as submitted by the equalization committee.

"I am in my fourth term as a county commissioner," Gnodtke told the STC, "and never before have so many people objected to high and unfair valuation on their property."

"We cannot continue to tax industry and people out of Berrien county or out of the State of Michigan," Gnodtke stated.

Gnodtke noted a number of factors were responsible for Berrien's real estate valuation to appear higher on paper than what it actually is.

"Berrien county is situated so that we have many people from large cities coming to buy acreage (hobby farms) at enormous prices, paying far more than par value."

"When these sales are taken into consideration, every farmer is paying higher taxes just because some people are paying more for property than it is worth."

"Sales studies also may include personal property which was included in the sales, closing costs, commissions, attorney fees, survey, points, and so forth, which add absolutely nothing to the true cash value of property," Gnodtke declared.

Gnodtke also submitted testimony from real estate experts, objections from many municipalities in Berrien county, and the county board's decision to fight the increases in extolling the STC to concur with the county and find the equalized valuation of real property to be $1,018,212,762.

"The economic conditions as they exist today in Berrien county warrant our immediate action, not something that may show up three years from now."

Now is the time," Gnodtke urged.

"We in no way can justify, to anyone, an increase in real property except new construction over the 1974 state equalized valuation of Berrien county. If we had not taken this action, we would have been derelict in our duties as county commissioners," Gnodtke stated.

If the STC should decide not to honor Berrien's appeal, the next step in the appeal process would be to go before the newly-created State Tax Tribunal, and from there into court.

TRADE TALK: Dr. Abdelrahman Al-Zamel, coordinator of the Saudi Arabian Economic Mission, is shown in New York Tuesday when he urged businessmen to help prevent political developments which could threaten U.S.-Arab trade.

"What's needed now is intensified action during the critical period coming up," he said. Al-Zamel said it was in the best interests of American companies to stop the United States from enacting and enforcing measures which would punish the Arab world for boycotting companies which work closely with Israel. AREA POLICE ROUNDUP Auto Accessories Stolen Automobile accessories were among the targets of thieves in a series of burglaries reported to area police Tuesday.

Crawford's Garage, 430 Cass street, had nearly $1,150 in tires, wheel rims, tools and a television set stolen sometime Sunday. The thief or thieves kicked open a rear door to gain entry, Benton Harbor police said.

An employee at Ned Gates Chevrolet Inc., 300 West Britain avenue, reported spare tires and wheel accessories valued at nearly $700 were stolen from 11 vehicles on the lot. He told police he did not know over what period of time the thefts took place.

In another theft reported to police, five headsets and a basketball valued at $85 were stolen from Calvin Britain elementary school, 209 East

Russell Tidey, route 1, Hillandale road, Sodus township, told deputies an acetylene welding outfit, air gun and a small electric motor were among items taken from his barn during the night Monday.

Deputies also received a report on the theft of a chain saw and lawn mower, valued at about $300, from John Handy, 4777 Hillandale road, Sodus township.

Rick Halliday, 906 Lions Park drive, reported to St. Joseph police Tuesday the theft of a $200 citizens band radio and a fishing reel from his unlocked pickup while it was parked at

State police of the Benton Harbor post arrested a 24-year-old Sodus township man after finding a small handgun, a .22 caliber derringer, when he was stopped for a routine traffic violation on Fair avenue, Benton township, early Tuesday.

Booked at the Berrien jail on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon was Michael Cross, 24, 3787 Edwards road.

Howard Veersma, North Shore Estates, Benton township, told Benton Harbor police his car was hit by a brick while he was driving in the 300 block of Paw Paw avenue Tuesday.

Benton Harbor police confiscated a .22 caliber revolver from a woman who told officers she had fired the gun to frighten her boyfriend Tuesday.

There were no arrests made and no injuries.

State police of the Benton Harbor post arrested a St. Joseph township man in Jean Klock park Tuesday after finding a small quantity of suspected marijuana in a car at the park.

Booked at Berrien county jail on a charge of violating the controlled substance act was Willie Jackson, 18, 10407 Hilltop road.

'Feeling Good' May Fade After Reruns Finish

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Public TV's costly "Feeling Good" health series begins 13 weeks of reruns on July 2. But whether it'll return next season is as uncertain as a schoolboy's first date.

At the Children's Television Workshop, which makes the show, "feelings are mixed" about whether the series will return, a spokesman says. A CTW source says its second season chances "are not good."

The spokesman, Stu Awbry, said no decision has been made on the fate of "Feeling Good," which is distributed nationally on Wednesday nights by the Public Broadcasting Service.

He said CTW brass haven't met yet with the show's underwriters to "gauge whatever sentiment there might be for another season. So currently there are no plans for another season, pending a meeting with them."

The meeting will be in a matter of weeks, he said, but no date has been set.

He said a major factor in CTW's uncertainty on a second "Feeling Good" season is the cost of keeping the series' production personnel on the payroll while awaiting a decision on renewing the show.

"Even taking the time to go back in and plan another season would require carrying a lot of people, which financially we're not able to do," he said.

Awbry said another factor is a pending assessment of the impact the revised version of the show has had on the viewing public.

"Feeling Good" began in a blaze of publicity last November as an hour-long series, but after 11 episodes CTW concluded it wasn't achieving the kind of impact we had hoped for."

The show went off the air after Jan. 29 and was hustled back to the Workshop for repairs, which included reducing it to a half-hour and using less entertainment and more direct health information in the episodes.

Talk show star Dick Cavett was hired for $52,000 to host 13 new "Feeling Good" segments, the first of which aired on April 2.

A total of $6.5 million was earmarked for the series, not only for its production, but also for audience research, a never-aired pilot program, a promotional campaign and various community "outreach" projects directly related to the good-health aim of the series, CTW says.

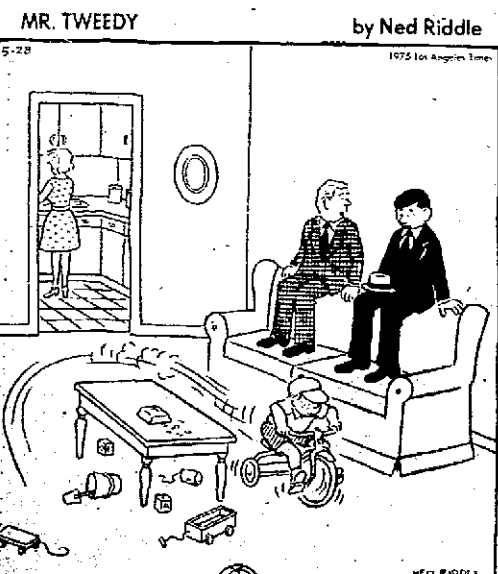

Most of the cost was underwritten by the Corporation for Public Broadcasting ($2.2 million), the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation ($1,737,000), Exxon Corp. ($1,037,900) and Aetna Life and Casualty Co. ($1 million).

Should underwriters prove willing to back the show again, Cavett's return remains a question mark. He's scheduled to host a four-week variety show on CBS-TV, starting Aug. 16, which means he'll be on a commercial TV network Saturdays and public TV Wednesdays for a month.

Awbry said CTW doesn't know yet if the 38-year-old star would be willing to return to "Feeling Good" for a second year.

"I'm sure that would be open to renegotiation since his contract with CTW was only for the 13-week period," he said, adding the 13 shows in which Cavett appears are the only ones that will be summer repeats.

Q: What are the guesses on how long Zsa Zsa Gabor will stay married to her new husband? — R.D., Springfield, Mass.

A: Zsa Zsa appears to be thoroughly enjoying her sixth marriage — this one to Jack Ryan, who developed the Barbie doll. But she doesn't judge her marriages by duration. In fact she wishes she had married more often and kept them shorter. It's the honeymoons that are fun. But neither Zsa Zsa nor Jack has moved out of the neighboring houses each owns in Bel Air. That doesn't suggest a long-lasting relationship.

Q: I don't mean to pry but how in the world does Kissinger get any sleep with all these emergencies cropping up day and night all over the world? — J.C., Springfield, Ill.

A: Well, Mrs. Nancy Kissinger is reported to have claimed that she and Henry have never slept a whole night through since their marriage without being disturbed by a phone call or other interruption concerned with some international problem that couldn't wait.

Q: With so many couples now opting for zero children, aren't they heading for unhappy marriages? — Y.T., Tacoma, Wash.

A: A West German survey indicates that childless marriages actually seem to be happier because the partners understand each other better; see one another often; share hobbies to a greater degree; have sex more often than those with offspring but are less likely to seek it outside the marriage.

Q: Isn't there some way that journalists in war zones can avoid the dangers they recently experienced in Southeast Asia? — W.S., Fort Smith, Ark.

Year-Old Ticket Is Lucky For One Man

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — James Ford of East Detroit could win $200,000 in this week's Michigan Lottery super drawing because he "lucked out."

Ford, 50, discovered an old winning ticket in a box in his house two weeks ago. The ticket was dated for the June 20, 1974, drawing — so he would have lost his chance for the money when the one-year deadline arrived next month.

"Mr. Ford lucked out. He doesn't check his tickets very well. He buys them, puts them in a box and looks at them from time to time," a lottery bureau representative said Tuesday.

Ford, a laborer for Parke Davis in Detroit, and his wife, Annie, have three children. Mrs. Ford is a clerk for the National Council of Jewish Women.

Besides the top $200,000 prize at Thursday's drawing at the Community Center in Lincoln Park, one $50,000, one $25,000 and three $10,000 prizes will be awarded.

Other contestants are: —James H. Braun, 47, of Richmond, a supervisor in the grinding department of General Electric in Detroit. Braun and his wife, Peggy, have five children.

—Robert Allan Brooks, 30, of Ravenna, a machinist for C&O Railroad. Brooks and his wife, Janet, have three children.

—Helen E. Kiefer, 50, a Toledo, Ohio, housewife whose husband, Arnold, is a die setter for Toledo's Guaranty-Schulz Corp.

—Albert Peters, a 76-year-old Chicago retiree with a wife, Regina, and two sons.

—Gustave Verhelle, 45, of St. Clair Shores, a maintenance worker for Cadillac Motors in Detroit. Verhelle and his wife, Annie, have seven children.

BICENTENNIAL FACTS

THE MASON-DIXON line, probably the most widely known boundary line in the U.S., was named after two famous mathematicians, Charles Mason and Jeremiah Dixon. The two were called in from England in 1763 to help resolve a long dispute over the measurements of boundary lines separating Pennsylvania, Delaware and Maryland. The World Almanac notes that surveys made 20 years later proved that Mason and Dixon had determined alignments with an amazing degree of accuracy using available 18th century instruments.

President Proclaims Dad's Day

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford says the nation's observance of Father's Day should include a salute to natural fathers, foster fathers, adoptive fathers and big brothers.

"It is a fitting American tradition that once a year we pay a well-deserved tribute to these fathers of America," Ford said Tuesday as he proclaimed June 15 as Father's Day.

He said that for each youngster, there have been special men who "loved us and made us feel important."

Ford, whose mother and father were divorced, has expressed great affection for his stepfather. He did not meet his real father until late in his teens.

Clark Picks PR Director

LOUIS J. BEHRE
New directorship

BUCHANAN — Clark Equipment company has named Louis J. Behre director of public relations and advertising, a new position within the company.

Behre joined the company in 1948 in New York, and later became manager of that office. In 1961 he was named sales promotion manager of the company's international division, and in 1964 was promoted to executive assistant to the vice president and general manager of Clark's operations in Europe, where he was stationed in Brussels and later in England.

In 1970 he returned to the United States as manager, advertising and public relations for Clark's international division, and in 1973 he became the division's vice president, administration.

Behre was graduated from Adelphi University in 1960 with a B.S. degree in business management, and served in the U.S. Army from 1951 to 1963.

Girls Stater Selected At Lawton

LAWTON — Sherry Kern, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kern, route 2, Lawton, has been selected by the Lawton American Legion auxiliary to attend Girls State this summer at Olivet College, Olivet, June 14-22.

A junior at Lawton high school, Sherry plans to attend college upon graduation from high school and hopes to be a foreign exchange student her senior year of high school.

Woman's Favorite Athletes

What makes a great athlete? For Jane Chastain, the leading lady of television sports broadcasting, greatness is measured by much more than skill.

The six professional athletes she admires most also exhibit dedication, maturity, a sense of humor and consistent excellence in their sport.

Friends Pay Last Respects To Comedienne

NEW YORK (AP) — "Show business has lost a great lady," lamented comedian Slappy White after the quiet Baptist funeral of Jackie "Moms" Mabley. "But it's so sad to be sad for a lady who made so many happy."

White and hundreds of other friends and fans crowded into Harlem's Abyssinian Baptist Church on Tuesday to bid farewell to the 78-year-old black comedienne, who died in White Plains, N.Y., Friday night.

SJ Offered Low-Income Rent Subsidy Plan

The City of St. Joseph has asked to participate in a program of Housing and Community Development (HUD) grants that would subsidize housing for low-income families who rent.

Under the plan the St. Joseph housing commission must submit an application to be reviewed by HUD officials. When the application is approved the housing commission would be allocated funds to be paid to no more than eight low income families.

The plan is known as the Housing Assistance program under section 8 of the Housing and Community Development act of 1974, according to Stanley Kedzior, HUD multifamily housing representative at the Detroit office.

According to Kedzior, the tenant family would have to pay at least 15 per cent of the rent and not more than 20 per cent. The city would be paid 8 1/2 per cent of the existing fair market rental rate for a two-bedroom home for each family that participates in the program to cover the city's administrative costs. Each family would have to apply for assistance through the St. Joseph housing commission. The housing commission would have to have its application into HUD by July 21. Kedzior said about 30 communities throughout the state have been invited to participate in the program. He said several communities have already submitted applications, but none have been approved. City Manager Jerry Heppner, who is the executive director of the city's housing commission, said the plan would be taken up at the next meeting in June. He said he is seeking more information on the plan.

By BAYARD RUSTIN
America is facing a moral crisis, and nothing reveals this more vividly than the debate over the Vietnam refugees. We have witnessed in recent weeks an orgy of mean-spiritedness, self-recrimination and intellectual duplicity in which, most deplorably, many liberals have played a leading role. A nation which attained moral stature as a haven for the oppressed now seems willing to turn away from its most cherished traditions. Truly we are experiencing a low point in American history.

I can understand why many ordinary Americans regard the refugees with hostility. The economy is in dreadful shape; competition along racial, sexual and age lines is accelerating; the arrival of another group is seen as exacerbating an already desperate situation.

The fear generated by high unemployment also accounts for the antagonistic response of a good number of blacks. For six years the government has encouraged policies and attitudes of racial neglect. Other causes and priorities have displaced the goal of racial progress on the national agenda. Black people believe that they are justified in asking whether the refugees represent another have-not group whose arrival signifies that Negroes will be shunted further aside.

But while the apprehensions about the economic impact of the refugees may be real, they are in truth unwarranted. Although the total number of refugees comes to about 120,000, the number seeking work is relatively small, about 30,000 or 40,000. Most, in fact, are children, including many orphans.

That the American people do not understand these facts is largely due to the failure of political leadership exhibited by many liberals. It is a frightening and discouraging spectacle when those who have traditionally stood by the persecuted of the world now take the narrow road, carping at and criticizing the request for political asylum.

Ironically those who, in opposing the Vietnam war, criticized the American government for holding degrading and stereotyped views of the Vietnamese people, now suggest that the majority of refugees are either criminals or political terrorists. One can hardly imagine a more degrading or unjustified stereotyping.

As for those, such as Sen. McGovern, whose praise, either through naïveté or dishonesty, that most refugees would actually prefer to return to their homeland, have they considered asking the refugees themselves?

The critics of our refugee policy are unable to accept a hard, simple fact: that refugees, like millions of others who have suffered religious or political persecution, prefer the uncertainties of American life to the certain oppressiveness of the political regime they fled. That ordinary people had much to fear from the Communist forces is borne out by the experiences of the Cambodian people: a whole population uprooted from its homes, families separated from each other, forced into what amounts to slave labor, the sick and aged left to die.

There is an analogy between the situation of the Vietnam refugees and the experience of black Americans. During the 1940s and 1950s, Southern blacks migrated in massive numbers to the cities of the North. They understood that the life awaiting them was no utopia and that they might be greeted with hostility by workers with whom they would compete for jobs. But they also recognized that the Northern cities offered opportunities for personal and political expression as well as economic opportunities.

In a sense, they were seeking an alternative political, economic and social system to the rigid, caste-bound pattern of Southern segregation. They were convinced that the change, despite its traumas, was worth the risk.

Ask Your Dentist

By ALFRED E. SEYLER, D.D.S.

Q. My son is a dental student. He will graduate pretty soon and wants to continue his studies and become a children's dentist. Is that specialty easy to learn — does it pay well — and isn't it hard to deal with kids all day long? — R.K.

A. I agree that it may be hard to deal with kids all day long — but in my opinion they're a lot easier to get along with than most adults!

Many men and women have a natural ability to get along with children — for them dentistry for children can be easy. Others can develop the ability by practice and study, if they really want to. However, I tell my students in the University of Detroit Dental School that not all individuals are suited for children's dentists — and rather than be unhappy and irritated while they work for children, they should be honest and refer them to a dentist who will welcome them in his practice.

Your son should have patience, understanding and determination in order to get along well with children. He must realize that the approach to a child 3-5 years old is different than that to an older child.

A child at age 3-4 doesn't rationalize his behavior. He obeys orders because he wishes to please "the boss" or because he has learned at home that if he obeys it is "best for him." It isn't necessary to spend a lot of time giving him reasons for behaving. He knows or must be told that's what is expected of him, and he usually accepts the situation easily.

In reality, a lecture about brushing teeth and not eating sweets to keep his teeth healthy doesn't have a long-lasting effect on a three or four year old. Not that he should not be told about such things — but we shouldn't expect too much from our lecture!

A child of five or six, however, can be reasoned with and will probably understand why he should brush his teeth, not eat too many sweets or drink too many drinks and come to the dentist regularly.

As a rule, children cannot be hurried. Indeed, their slow reaction must be expected. They must have things explained to them in words they can understand. The tell-show-do method is a good approach to the normal, agreeable child. A little time spent by the dentist or his assistant in talking to or with the child, demonstrating how the drill works, how it sounds and what it does, can gain a child's confidence.

Children can sit for fairly long appointments. An hour's time is not unusual to spend with a child and long appointments can cut down on the number of visits necessary, which appeals to the parent.

With a difficult child, patience, understanding and firmness are necessary. Once the patient learns who is boss, he will settle down and accept treatment procedures without a complaint. Difficult children who are properly directed or trained by the dentist usually become loyal, agreeable patients and a mutual respect is established, which will last for years.

To answer your question — "Does dentistry for children pay well?" — we find that most parents want good dentistry for their children and are willing to pay for it. Accordingly, the dentist who is a specialist, trained in the area of dentistry for children, enjoys an income comparable to other specialty fields, which is usually slightly higher than that of a general practitioner.

I hope you will encourage your son to become a pedodontist, which is the proper name for a dentist who specializes in dentistry for children.

Van Buren Board Rejects Migrant Official

By DENNIS COGSWELL
Paw Paw Bureau

PAW PAW — In a 4 to 3 vote, the Van Buren county board of commissioners last night rejected a resolution which would have added the director of an area migrant organization and others to the county's manpower planning advisory board.

Commissioner Gerald Rendel said the appointment of Guillermo Martinez, area director of United Migrants for Opportunity Incorporated (UMOI) would have constituted an endorsement of that organization's activities.

In the past, UMOI and other groups offering assistance to migrant workers have come under fire by some commissioners because of activities which board members said amounted to harassment of farmers.

Rendel said he was opposed to any group which used taxpayers' money in legal actions on behalf of migrants.

The measure which was rejected would have added Martinez, James Urquhart, area WIN (Whip Inflation Now) director, and William Bolinger, asst. director of the Van Buren Skills Center, to the manpower board.

Voting in favor were Commissioners Boyd Estes, Donald Hanson, and Ronald DeCook, with Rendel and Commissioners Edwin Twitchell, James Wellington, and George Fritz against. Commissioners Walter Stickels and Lloyd Martin were absent.

No opposition was voiced toward the other proposed appointments, but no move was made to add them after the vote.

In a related matter commissioners approved an unspecified amount to hire outside legal assistance to fight a suit filed against the Van Buren sheriff's department on behalf of Hartford migrant worker.

The suit, filed in federal district court, Grand Rapids, on behalf of Obie Tate, Jr., is expected to test the legality of towing away a car after the driver has been ticketed or arrested. Tate claims that his car was seized unfairly by the sheriff's department following a traffic stop in February, 1974.

In another split vote, commissioners upheld the appointment of Robert Pearson of Bloomington to a vacancy on the county road commission.

Two weeks ago in a secret ballot, Pearson won the post with five votes, to two votes for John H. Tapper of Paw Paw and one vote for Harry Sarno of Covert.

County Clerk Charles MacDonald said that after the meeting questions were raised as to the legality of appointing a public official by secret ballot. Fritz said an opinion issued by Assistant Van Buren Prosecutor George Dunn found that each commissioner vote according to state law, must be recorded.

In the vote last night, Pearson was supported by Twitchell, Fritz, Rendel, Wellington, and DeCook, with Estes and Hanson voting for Tapper.

Commissioners also approved the appointment of Norman G. Rushing as Seventh District court magistrate effective June 1. Rushing replaces Fred O'Donnell, 62, Paw Paw, who is retiring.

Rushing, a former state police trooper, is the husband of Virginia Rushing, the court's recorder. District Court Judge William C. Buhl said he felt Rushing and his wife would not have an excessive amount of contact in their jobs, and that he wanted Rushing for the post because of his familiarity with criminal law. Wellington, although not voting against the appointment, questioned whether people retiring from one public agency should continue to "feed at the public trough" with another governmental job.

In other matters related to personnel policy, Fritz said he had received some complaints from department heads that they had not had a chance to review the county's new personnel policy before it was adopted. Rendel said he planned to ask for an amendment which would allow one-half of vacation time accrued to be taken one day at a time.

Commissioners were also notified that a meeting has been scheduled for 7:30 p.m. tonight at Hartford city hall to discuss plans for a wastewater treatment facility which would serve Hartford and Lawrence townships and southwestern Bangor township. Both Hartford and Lawrence have applied for federal funds for such a facility.

The board also approved the hiring of Thomas Sternbaugh as a juvenile court counselor for the summer. Sternbaugh was formerly a juvenile court officer. Salary for the part-time work was estimated at $1,000 to $1,200.

Bangor Will Fill 2 Posts, Vote On Tax

BANGOR — Voters in the Bangor school district will elect two of six candidates to four-year school board terms in the June 9 school elections and will also vote on a proposed five-mill property tax levy to run for five years.

Candidates are Fred Waite, an incumbent school board member, and challengers Fred Lundborg, Mrs. Peggy Phillips, Mrs. Mildred Royal, Ralph Smith and Philip Wiles.

The other incumbent whose board term expired this year is Burtis McKane who did not seek re-election.

School officials said although the school is seeking approval of five mills for five years, three mills are to be taken off the debt retirement levy, making the overall increase - if approved - only two mills.

The district's total 1974 tax levy was 28.88 mills and approval of the operating mills issue proposed would boost that to 30.88 mills.

The 28.88 mills, based on the school's 1974 tax base of $25.6 million, raised about $738,000 in local tax funds.

The 30.88-mill levy, based on a 1975 district tax base of $28.5 million, would raise about $878,628 in local tax funds.

The six board candidates are seeking election to two four-year terms on the board.

Waite is seeking a second board term. He is 42, and employed at Stone's meat packing in South Haven. He and his wife, Betty, have three children. The family lives at M-43 west.

Lundborg, 47, is a self-employed carpenter and roofer. He and his wife, Dorothy, have three children and live on CR-681.

Mrs. Phillips, 36, and her husband, Ray, have three children and live at 618 Cass, Bangor. He is employed at Adams Electronics.

Mrs. Royal, 36, is a reading consultant at Gobles and Wood schools. She and her husband, Charles, live on M-43 East and have four children.

Smith, 48, is a superintendent for the Van Buren county road commission and also Waverly township treasurer.

Heart Transplant Patient Dies

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — A Muskegon man who received a heart transplant one month ago died Tuesday at the University of Michigan Hospital in Ann Arbor. Robert DeVries, 48, died of pneumonia but surgeons said DeVries never recovered from the shock of two major surgical procedures April 30. The transplant was a final attempt to save DeVries' life when his own heart did not recover from an operation to repair an aortic valve. Kidney failure and other complications led to DeVries' death, a hospital representative said. The representative said the transplanted heart performed well until DeVries' death.

Wiles, 45, is also employed by the Van Buren county road commission. He and his wife, Marilee, have five children and live at 504 Joy, Bangor.

LMC Administrators Offered 3-Year Pacts

By JERRY KRIEGER
County Farm Editor

The trustees of Lake Michigan college voted unanimously last night to offer three-year contracts to the school's president and three vice presidents.

The action did not cover salary figures. However, Dr. Bernard C. Radde, board chairman, said the top administrators are in line for the same approximately 7.9 per cent increase in pay and fringe benefits that has been allocated for the teaching faculty, other administrators, secretarial staff and other employees, except the unionized maintenance personnel.

The salary figures for all members of the administrative staff are to be established before July 1. Increases for the faculty and other personnel were announced in April.

Board Chairman Radde said the offer of three-year contracts was an important step in maintaining the team of top administrators that has been assembled. The four offered the three-year agreements include President James Lehman, Executive Vice President

Radde noted after the meeting that at least some of the men have received attractive offers from other institutions.

In another action, the board authorized Gerald McElvain, project architect on the college building program for Harry Weese & Associates of Chicago, to complete plans for building improvements, revisions and changes in Phase III in time to open bids by early July. McElvain estimated the cost would run over $200,000.

Among the major alterations will be development of a radio laboratory, a big increase in ventilating facilities in the welding laboratory to meet OSHA safety standards, improve the acoustical quality of the music rehearsal room, upgrade the kitchen facilities, and build-in an existing open air art terrace on the third floor of the classroom wing.

McElvain said 90 per cent of the work could be completed by September, provided construction starts by mid-July.

He also outlined a proposal for constructing eight tennis courts and an all-weather track, starting next fall. He said the costs have not yet been estimated.

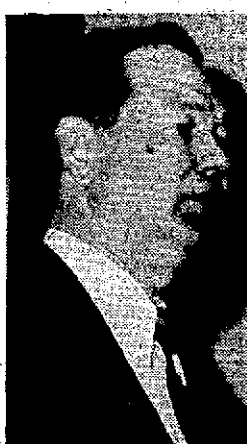

Charlie Field, dean of community services, reported that 11,557 persons were counted in attendance at meetings, seminars, workshops, conferences and other gatherings on the LMC campus in the current school year. These were persons other than members of the student body. Betty Manning, director of the Women's center said she will leave at the end of the school year to follow her husband to Lansing.

Three retiring teachers were saluted by the trustees. They are Robert Hynd, history instructor who is completing 37½ years as an educator, the last 15 at LMC; Miss Lucy Mayer, nursing instructor and former chairman of the health services division, with LMC since 1962 on a full-time basis; and Harry J. Smith, LMC English instructor since 1961. The trustees granted a request of the Whirlwinds of Southwestern Michigan, a group of radio-controlled model airplane hobbyists, for use of an unoccupied area of the campus for flying their planes. The agreement is for an indefinite period.

The administration was authorized to apply for a federal grant from the Vocational Rehabilitation administration to eliminate architectural barriers for physically handicapped persons. Business Vice President Niemi said the college could expect to get about $24,000, which the college would have to match with a 20 per cent local share, about $6,000.

The board approved award of a one-year contract for security service on the campus to Pinkerton, Inc., low bidder at a straight hourly rate of $3.65 per man.

Two Hopefuls, Six Mills On Lawton Ballot

LAWTON — An additional six-mill property tax levy for school operations for one year faces Lawton school district voters in the annual June 9 election here.

Also to be decided is a race between Jerry H. Beeman and Richard A. Haynor, both newcomers, for the school board post being vacated by Mrs. Evon Slevatz, board secretary, who chose not to seek re-election. The term is for four years.

The additional six mills would raise slightly over $125,000 in local taxes and approximately $128,000 in additional state aid, if approved, based on the district's new state equalized valuation of $20,800,571, according to Supt. George Dannecker.

The six mills would bring the district's total tax levy for school operations to 29.58 mills, compared to 23.58 this past year. Dannecker said the district's debt retirement millage of 7.12 mills in all probability would be reduced somewhat.

The school district's tentative budget for 1975-76 is $1,259,448, and includes an anticipated deficit of some $287,000, unless the millage proposal passes. Radical cuts in programs are being considered to offset the deficit if the issue is defeated. Dannecker said approval of the millage request would salvage current school programs, and cover increased salaries and cost of supplies.

Brief profiles of the two candidates seeking election to the open school board seat follow: Beeman, 37, route 2, box 58X, 86th avenue, is employed by Midwest Aluminum, of Oshkosh. A resident of Lawton for four years, he and his wife, Jane, have four children, three in school.

Haynor, 38, M-40 South, is employed by National Grape Cooperative, Lawton. A resident of Lawton 10 years, he and his wife, Phyllis, have five children, four in school.

Bangor Puts Limit On 'Rummage'

BANGOR — Bangor city council last night gave its final approval to a new city ordinance regulating garage, porch, rummage and other similar type sales in the city.

The ordinance requires a home owner to obtain a permit from the city to hold any of the sales and limits the number of permits a home may have in a year to one. It also limits the number of days a sale may run to seven.

Under the measure, permits would cost $3, regardless of the number of days involved.

Action came in the wake of council criticism of such sales during its April 15 meeting.

The council also said it had received letters opposing adoption since the measure was proposed. The ordinance takes effect 10 days after it is published.

In other areas, the council announced that it will seek bids on the city's used 12-horsepower tractor mower. The bids will be opened June 23. The council purchased a new mower at its April 15 meeting.

The council tabled action on a request by American Consolidated Properties of Kalamazoo to allow installation of a cable television service in Bangor.

Achievement Night Thursday At Eau Claire High School

EAU CLAIRE — Eau Claire high school's annual achievement night will be held Thursday starting at 7:30 p.m. at the high school, according to John Laskaredes, high school principal. The high school stage band will perform two concerts.

Fund Drive Near Halfway Point

Sarett Nature Center's annual fund-raising project is near 50 per cent of the $18,000 goal, with a week left in the drive.

Four types of membership are available in the drive which started May 5 and continues until June 4: contributing $25 and more, family $15, individual $10 and student $5.

Dr. Dean Hudnutt of Benton Harbor is serving as the drive's general chairman.

More than 70 per cent of Sarett's operating funds go towards educating school children, and the free tours are attracting record numbers from across a three-county area.

A total of 2,532 student visitors have been booked for May, a figure which is the highest monthly turnout ever at the center.

Chuck Nelson is the director-naturalist of the center, located on the Paw Paw River outside of Benton Harbor.

Curtain Goes Up Friday For Lawrence Junior Play

LAWRENCE — The Lawrence junior class will present its annual stage production at 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday at the high school auditorium.

The play, "The Hobbit," is a fantasy comedy-drama about a land of people smaller than dwarfs. In leading roles are Eva Fernandez, Dale Ferrell and John McKague, according to school officials. David Price, a sixth grade teacher, is faculty director, and Julie Tuberville and John Haw are student directors.

Berrien Legal Services Awarded $31,696 Grant

Berrien County Legal Services has been approved for a $31,696 federal grant to continue operating until Jan. 31. Cong. Edward Hutchinson's office announced today. The grant from the federal Community Services Administration, a branch of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW), provides the county agency with funds to continue legal counsel and representation for county indigents. Berrien County Legal Services, with offices at 201 Park Street, St. Joseph, has been operating since 1967.

THE HAGUE, Netherlands (AP) — The Dutch, Norwegian and Danish governments are ready to sign preliminary contracts and options for $1.3 billion worth of American F16 fighters if Belgium will go along, Dutch Defense Minister Henk Vredeling announced today.

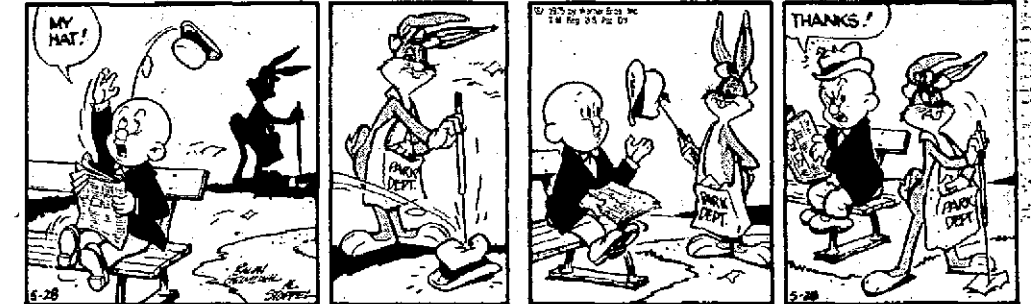

In a letter to the upper house of the Dutch Parliament, Vredeling said the governments of the Netherlands, Norway and Denmark planned to sign preliminary contracts and "memoranda of understanding" with the U.S. government, this week provided the Belgian government also chooses the General Dynamics plane to replace its Lockheed F104 Starfighters.

NEWS OF MARKETS

Market Down A Fraction

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices drifted lower today in a wave of selling, partly left over from Tuesday's market decline.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down a fraction shortly after the opening bell and gainers and losers were about even in early trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts said President Ford's move raising the tariff on foreign oil was generally a negative factor for the stock market, although it may boost some domestic oil stocks.

Overall, they said that the new $1-a-barrel tax on foreign oil may contribute to refueling inflation and inhibiting the gradual recovery the market seems to expect.

Prices of international oils were mixed in early trading. Atlantic Richfield dropped 3/8 to 89 1/2 and Texaco rose 1/8 to 24 1/4.

Prices of other active stocks were Del Monte, off 1/4 to 23 1/4, Trans World Airways, down 1/4 to 9, and Lockheed Aircraft, off 1/8 to 24 1/4.

On Tuesday, profit taking wiped out early gains and the Dow closed down 5.79 to 826.11 in moderate trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

Brokers said New York City's financing problems may have encouraged a cautious approach to buying and the sluggishness of trading was largely attributed to anticipation over President Ford's last night.

Southfield Bank Losses Continue

SOUTHFIELD, Mich., (AP) — The National Bank of Southfield says it has lost $141,000 on a loan made to a firm owned by the bank's chairman, William Henry.

The loss, as well as an order from the office of Comptroller of the Currency ordering the bank's parent company to either sell an office building or otherwise cease guaranteeing monthly mortgage payments, was disclosed in NBS Financial Corporation's annual report.

NBS Financial, the bank's parent company, has its annual meeting today. The company reported a loss of $1.3 million last year.

The latest disclosures are the most recent in a series of incidents that have plagued NBS Financial over the past 18 months.

The company has been criticized for making large loans to some NBS directors and company auditors reported some of those loans were on less than solid ground.

NBS, with assets of $167 million, is considered to be the largest bank company in Detroit's northern suburbs.

THE MALPRACTICE CRISIS — WHOSE FAULT?

In New York, the Argonaut Insurance Co. of California announced several months ago its intention to stop writing malpractice insurance as of July 1 — since physicians would not agree to a tripling of their yearly premium costs from an average $3,500 in 1974 to more than $10,000 this year.

In turn, New York's doctors and anesthesiologists announced that as of July 1 they would provide only emergency care for patients in deep trouble. And on Long Island, 4,100 physicians discussed a slowdown beginning June 1 because of the malpractice impasse.

In northern California, where Argonaut also threatened boosts of as much as 400 per cent in malpractice insurance premiums, doctors recently launched a "strike" under which they would treat only emergency cases.

And this is just the beginning. Whose fault is it? Both the doctors and the insurance industry claim consumers are "demanding new rights" and are in the mood consumer has made growing demands on medicine to solve previously hopeless problems.

Both forces claim that consumers fail to realize, as the 1971 Secretary's Commission on Medical Malpractice put it, the "inescapable fact that modern high-quality medicine carries risks that unavoidably result in some injuries to patients. No operation is absolutely safe. Any drug of real therapeutic value has unpleasant side effects or even dangers for some people."

These groups condemn the "contingency fee" system under which a lawyer does not demand payment unless he wins the suit — in which case he takes 30 to 50 per cent of the award. (The patient is often left with only 16 to 38 cents out of each dollar awarded.)

"They denounce the 'long tail' of malpractice suits under which an injured person may bring a suit 10 or more years after the damaging incident has occurred — forcing the insurer to pay an unpredictable number of future claims in inflated dollars. It now takes an average of seven years to settle a suit.

And the insurers blame bleeding-heart juries for boosting awards to heights as steep as $4 million and for setting awards on emotional rather than rational dollar — value grounds.

The disappearance of the family doctor has been a factor. (Sue the family doctor?) And the "Marcus Welby syndrome," the miracle-maker, has had some impact. But there are other, less obvious

Police Anglers 'Land' Man

BUCHANAN — Kenneth Phillip, 20, Buchanan, was arrested by off-duty Buchanan policemen yesterday on a warrant charging him with failure to appear for sentencing on a breaking and entering charge.

Police said the arrest came after off-duty officers fishing near the Indiana and Michigan Electric company boat landing along the St. Joseph river near Buchanan saw him there.

Police said Phillip did not appear in District court, St. Joseph, yesterday for sentencing on the breaking and entering charge. He was arrested in connection with the February break-in of a Buchanan barber shop.

Paralyzed Youth Wins $7 Million

WASHINGTON (AP) — A youth paralyzed in a swimming pool accident at a local hotel has been awarded a $7 million judgment by a federal court jury.

The jury, which set the award figure Tuesday, had ruled last week that the Washington Sheraton Corp. and the ITT Sheraton Corp. of America was liable for the 1971 accident involving Thomas' Hooks of Venice, Ill.

Hooks, then 18, was attending an Explorer Scout convention here when he broke his neck diving into the swimming pool of the Sheraton Park Hotel. Now he is a quadriplegic and confined to a wheelchair.

Old 728 Makes Its Last Landing

DEARBORN, Mich. (AP) — It was the final landing for plane 728 Wednesday.

The DC-3, which had logged 84,875 hours—reportedly more than any other aircraft in the history of aviation—entered its resting hangar in the Henry Ford Museum in Dearborn.

The plane, built in 1939, was donated by North Central Airlines to the museum's permanent display.

If its air time had been flown continuously, plane 728 would have been in the air nearly 10 years and could have made 25 trips to the moon and back.

It has traveled more than 12 million miles.

DC-3s usually carried 25 passengers per flight and once were the main carrier plane of the airlines.

Home Loans Take Upturn

WASHINGTON (AP) — A sharp increase in lending for new home buying last month is being hailed as an encouraging sign for the depressed housing industry. "Anything is an improvement at this point," an economist for the National Association of Home Builders said. He said the lending activity "is not an upturn, but it is an encouraging sign."

VAN BUREN SENTENCES

Three Get Prison Terms

By DENNIS COGSWELL
Paw Paw Bureau
 PAW PAW — A 19-year-old Hartford man was sentenced in Van Buren circuit court yesterday to serve from 30 months to four years in state prison as a result of his guilty plea to larceny in a building.

Sentenced was Rodney Bruce Hanus, route 2, 84th avenue, who had been arrested Feb. 19 in connection with the theft of property, including a .22-caliber rifle, three rings, and a watch, valued at a total of $214 from a Keeler township home.

The sentence was among four handed down yesterday by Judge David Anderson Jr.

In other cases, Walter E. Smith, 34, Benton Harbor, was sentenced to two to 14 years in state prison on a guilty plea to uttering and publishing a forged check for $35 Sept. 10 at a Hamilton township grocery store.

Danny L. Meadows, 18, Detroit, was sentenced to 18 months to five years in state prison on a guilty plea to auto theft. He was arrested near Mattawan in connection with the charge, which grew out of the April 21 theft of a car from Detroit.

Garland McWilliams, 27, Detroit, was ordered to pay $300 in fines and costs on a guilty plea to attempting to possess marijuana with intent to deliver Jan. 28 in Lawrence township.

In arraignments, Virginia Lucas, also known as Virginia Wall, 39, Bloomingdale, pleaded guilty to obstructing police Jan. 8 as they attempted to take her husband, Robert Lucas, into custody on a fugitive warrant.

Larry Gene Lemmons, 18, South Haven, pleaded guilty to larceny in a building stemming out of the Aug. 24 theft of a stereo amplifier from a Geneva township home. A charge of breaking and entering was dropped.

Marcum Clouse, 50, 602 Bangor road, Lawrence, and his son, Jimmy Lee Clouse, 30, route 2, Lawrence, both pleaded innocent to charges of resisting arrest April 30 following a disturbance at a Hartford tavern.

Carman Gaglia, 18, Buffalo, N.Y., pleaded innocent to charges of armed robbery, unarmed robbery, and auto theft, in connection with the April holdup by two men armed with a shotgun of the Miami service station at CR-687 and I-94, Hartford township.

Otha D. Harris, 417 Payone, Benton Harbor, pleaded guilty to attempted auto theft Nov. 5 from Schroeder Buick, Lawrence.

Michael Middleton, 18, route 2, Decatur, pleaded guilty to attempted larceny in a building which grew out of the reported theft of $105 from Hubb's Country Kitchen restaurant, Bangor, on Dec. 20.

Detroit Asks Hearing On Charge Of Auto Theft

PAW PAW — Richard Peter Mendoza, 17, Detroit, demanded preliminary examination on a charge of auto theft when arraigned yesterday in Seventh district court.

Mendoza was arrested by state police from the Paw Paw post Monday in connection with the theft of a car May 22 in Detroit. Troopers said the arrest came after they spotted a car which appeared to be abandoned near CR-665 and 6th avenue in Bloomingdale township, and a computer check showed it had been stolen.

Mendoza was lodged in the Van Buren county jail in lieu of $4,000 bond. The preliminary examination was scheduled for June 3.

In other cases, Brenda Eichler, 18, Sister Lakes, demanded preliminary examination on a charge of larceny in a building. The charge grew out of the theft of a saddle and halter from a barn on 56th street, Mattawan, on April 23, according to police.

The preliminary examination was scheduled for June 3. Glen W. Poage, 19, 250 East Main, Benton Harbor, was bound over to circuit court after waiving preliminary examination on a charge of breaking and entering. The charge stems from the reported theft of three cases of beer and two cartons of cigarettes May 16 from a Keeler grocery store.

Herman Gray, Jr., 23, Kalamazoo, was bound over to circuit court after waiving preliminary examination on a charge of breaking and entering a Pine Grove township home Dec. 7.

Daniel W. DeLoach, 19, and Edward Anders, 18, both of Hartford, each pleaded guilty to amended charges of conspiracy to commit simple larceny and were placed on pre-sentence investigation. Both had been charged with breaking and entering in connection with the March entry of the Hartford Shopping Center supermarket.

'THINK EXPORT,' STATE BUSINESSMEN TOLD

By MALCOLM JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer
LANSING, Mich. (AP) — "Every business in Michigan qualifies for foreign aid," the advertisement in a business magazine proclaims.

That doesn't mean the recession has gotten so bad that state companies are taking handouts from other countries. Rather, it's encouragement to Michigan businesses to export their products abroad.

The "international" ads began appearing in business publications last month as part of an advertisement campaign launched by the state Department of Commerce. The pitch is that Michigan is a good place to do business, regardless of reports to the contrary.

The department is spending $600,000 this fiscal year for the promotion, up from $225,000 two years ago. It reflects the realization that Michigan's business climate is getting a bad reputation.

The campaign has a dual pitch, according to Donald Meyers, a commerce department spokesman: "First, to bring jobs to Michigan, and also to change the attitudes of businessmen in Michigan and surrounding states."

As the newest segment of the ad campaign, the international ads are aimed mainly at Michigan companies which have not engaged in exporting.

"We're aiming at the small and medium-sized manufacturer who may not have exported or exported on a limited basis," said Robert Wingerson, an international trade specialist in the commerce department's international division.

"They may be reluctant because of the lack of expertise, or they can't afford having their own man overseas, or a fear of red tape."

The advertisement tells businessmen that the state's two export and investment development offices in Brussels and Tokyo can help them locate agents, distributors and customers for Michigan products in Europe and Asia.

The ads also point out that more than 2,000 Michigan companies are involved in international trade. The most recent statistics — for 1972 — from the federal government showed that Michigan leads the nation in foreign trade with $3.2 billion.

"On a broader scope, the ad is designed to influence perceptions of Michigan, to say 'here's a state which cares about businessmen,'" Wingerson said.

Wingerson said the ad had generated about 20 responses so far, both from companies and persons who want to be manufacturers' representatives abroad.

Underlying the whole campaign is the knowledge that many business leaders do not regard Michigan as a good place to do business.

"Michigan gets a lot of bad publicity — during the recession it's been in the news quite a bit," Wingerson acknowledged.

To combat its image, Milliken has won approval for some business tax reductions in recent years. In addition, legislation has been passed to encourage industry to expand and rehabilitate old plants.

A "job development authority" bill, providing low-interest loans to business, is before the legislature.

The ads directed at attracting business to Michigan mention the recent tax cuts. But they also argue that Michigan's bad points are really "myths."

"Why should you move your business to a state with high taxes, strong unions and crummy weather," questions one ad. It goes on to "shatter a few misconceptions about our state."

Michigan, it says, has lower business taxes than several surrounding states. And tax money means modern highways and educational facilities, anyway. The strong unions mean "you really get something for your money. Work. Laborers who are skilled at what they do. Employees who produce at 14.1 per cent above the national average."

And the "crummy weather" means there are four seasons, with various recreational activities, for businessmen and their employees.

"You can make money here," the ad concludes, "lots of it." There are other efforts — brochures and publications and a "hot line" to help businesses with their problems.

Refiner To Cut Sugar Prices

NEW YORK (AP) — Amstar Corp. and National Sugar Refining Co. say they will lower the wholesale price of 100 pounds of industrial sugar by $8.10 starting today.

The price of extra-fine granulated sugar will fall to $27 per 100 pounds while granulated and No. 2 liquid sugar will cost $26.80.

DELAWARE, the first colony to ratify the Constitution and thus the first state, claims only one military skirmish during the Revolutionary war, the Battle of Cooch's Bridge, a brief encounter between Gen. Howe's and Gen. Washington's troops during the British advance on Philadelphia. Delaware, The World Almanac notes, made a significant contribution of troops to the war effort: 1,000 militia and 2,386 Continental Army soldiers.
